U. S. DEMANDS ACTION, NOT ORATORY

Administration Will Insist Mexico Observe Every Obligation To Limit

By H. K. REYNOLDS

For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—

Action and not words is what the United States wants from Mexico.

This was the reply in high administration circles today to President Calles' statement criticizing Secretary Kellogg for his demand that Mexico discharge her international obligations if she is to longer receive the support of the United States in establishing a stable government.

President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg read the Calles statement with interest, but it was made plain that they were not perturbed by his statement that Mexico had been insulted or that any attack had been made on the sovereignty of the Mexican government.

The bluntness of Calles' reply surprised officials, however, probably in the same degree as the Mexican government was surprised by the Kellogg statement of last Friday.

While Kellogg declined to discuss any of Calles' observations, it was learned officially that the United States does not regard a reply as necessary at this time, but feels that it is now up to Mexico to take the necessary steps to put her house in order in accordance with the demands made by the department.

Want Full Protection

American residents in Mexico must be indemnified without delay for losses sustained in the seizure of their property under the Mexican constitution, officials declared, and there must be assurance that American lives and property in Mexico will be protected to the fullest extent in the future.

It was indicated in official circles that the next step in dealing with Mexico would be a formal note, embodying virtually the same demands made by Kellogg in his statement to the press. For the present, however, the administration will mark time—"watchful waiting"—it has been called, in relation to Mexico—to see what action, if any, President Calles will take to meet the desires of this government.

In the meantime, Calles' statement of Sunday was dismissed as of little consequence.

As to reports that James R. Sheffield, the United States ambassador, whose description of conditions in Mexico led to the present tense situation, will not return to Mexico City, it was said at the state department that no plans were on foot to make a change in the embassy there and that it was understood that Sheffield would return after a brief stay in this country.

Mexican People Remain Calm Over U. S. Demands

MEXICO CITY, June 15.—Although the newspapers here today were emphasizing the diplomatic crisis which has developed between Mexico and the United States, the Mexican people generally appeared to be indifferent to the political tension.

Business continued as usual in the foreign colonies and capitalists were inclined to believe that the outcome of the sharp note the state department sent to Mexico and which drew an equally sharp reply from President Calles, would be a definite statement of policy by each government. The representative of Henry Ford announced that the diplomatic interchange would not halt the building of a Ford motor factory here.

Reaction in Mexican governmental circles was against Ambassador Sheffield rather than the American government. Mexican politicians blamed Sheffield for the stern note which Secretary of State Kellogg dispatched.

Describes How He Shook Hand Of King George

NEW YORK, June 15.—

"Just a casual exchange of courtesies between King George and myself."

John Cownie, tall, weather-beaten glove manufacturer from Des Moines, Iowa, nonchalantly described his recent "handshaking" episode with the King of England at the Wembley exposition, when he arrived today on board the Adriatic.

Shaking hands with a king is no more than any other kind of a western handshake, Cownie indicated by his surprise that anyone should have noticed it.

"The king was standing near me at the same booth," Cownie told International News Service. "I nodded to him and he returned the nod. I said 'How do you do?' He returned the greeting and I asked him if he'd like to shake the hand of a young American—my son, John. The king said: 'Certainly.' He said it as though he meant it."

"The king shook hands with both of us and afterward chatted with us for several moments. What did he say? I forgot his exact words. We were just chatting, that's all."

DEFENSE WINS VICTORY IN GERM CASE

Witness Fails To Identify William D. Shepherd As 'Typhoid Student'

CHICAGO, June 15.—The defense scored an important victory in the trial of William D. Shepherd, charged with slaying Billy McClintock today when Dr. Amante Rongetti, the witness who on Saturday testified that Shepherd talked to him about taking up a course in bacteriology, failed to identify the defendant in court.

The state's forces were completely taken by surprise.

Dr. Rongetti was cross-examined by Attorney Stewart.

"As I remember, you were shown some photographs by some one who came to you?"

Young Woman Calls

The witness said a young woman came to him with some photographs. He was hazy as to her description. He was then examined as to what took place at various interviews with reporters.

He admitted he had told the man who came to see him was young and weighed about 150 pounds.

Stewart made Rongetti admit that no one came to his institution to inquire about any course.

"Nobody ever came out to you to ask about any course in bacteriology?" he asked.

"Nobody," the witness replied.

"Nobody? That is all false, isn't it?"

"Well, yes."

Stewart had his dramatic moment.

"Stand up. Come here," he demanded, turning to Shepherd.

Shepherd walked over in front of the witness stand.

"Look at this man," ordered Stewart to the witness. "What do you say?"

Rioting Continues As Miners Burn Buildings

SYDNEY, N. S., June 15.—Rioting on both sides of Sydney harbor, in the coal strike area, was reported today. Liquor smuggled in at New Waterford and Glace Bay was given the striking miners and with minds inflamed, strikers and their sympathizers attacked the British Empire Steel corporation's warehouse at Glace Bay and a general store at Sydney mines. Raiders on the corporation store at No. 6 colliery were masked and arrived at the store in automobiles. A torch was applied after the looting.

Barbed wire entanglements were stretched along the railroad tracks today and infantrymen searched all Sydney, Louisburg and Halifax trains. An attempt was made today to loot the Besco warehouse at Glace Bay, three private stores in the Caledonia district were ransacked and a coal pocket near No. 2 bulkhead at the steel corporation plant was fired but extinguished by police and United Mine Workers.

Quit Legion Post To Erect War Memorial

INDIANAPOLIS, June 15.—The resignation of Russell Creststone, national adjutant of the American Legion, was announced by James A. Drain, national commander, shortly after the summer session of the national executive committee convened here today.

Creststone's resignation becomes effective July 31, following which he will become executive secretary of the War Mothers' Memorial association, which will erect a monument to the war mothers whose sons died in the world war. He will be succeeded by James F. Barton, assistant national adjutant of the American Legion.

Sixty Thousand Window Panes Smashed, Estimated

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, June 15.—Dealers in glass estimated today that sixty thousand window panes were smashed by the hail storm that swept over this city and Omaha Sunday afternoon.

There was not enough glass in stock in either city today to supply the demand. Dealers wired today for glass by carloads.

It was estimated that eight to ten carloads of glass will be needed.

Hail stones as big as goose eggs fell for fifteen minutes.

Panics Among Patients

The storm struck greenhouses here and in Omaha the worst blow in years.

Panics started among patients at a number of hospitals here and in Omaha when the hail stones began to crash in windows. It was necessary to move the patients to the north side of the buildings.

Reports from surrounding farm districts stated that hail practically wiped out crops.

Will Made by Youthful Heir Is Destroyed

LOS ANGELES, June 15.

Shortly after the $1,000,000 will which names as sole beneficiary Dr. Thomas W. Young, Los Angeles dentist who confessed he slew his pretty wife, Grace, society leader, by smothering her with somnifform, deadly dental gas, was found this afternoon, it was destroyed by its maker, Charles Patrick Grogan, Mrs. Young's 18-year-old son and heir to the fortune of California's "olive king."

District Attorney Asa Keyes advised the youth to immediately tear the will into bits, declaring it was perfectly legal document, whereby all of the youth's wealth was willed to the dentist.

Shortly afterward the inquest opened over Mrs. Young's body which was identified by her father and brother. The inquest was then continued by the reading of Young's confession of the "gas murder."

That a love motive may have been linked with Young's desire for the millions of his stepson, Charles Patrick Grogan, was the belief of the district attorney, as he questioned the brother of the murdered woman regarding Young's reported infatuation for Miss Dorothy Leopold, his office assistant. Keyes also started a thorough search for a will signed two weeks ago by Young Grogan, leaving his fortune to Young.

While preparations were being made for an inquest to be held late today over Mrs. Young's body, removed from the cistern beneath the summer cabin in Beverly Glen, where it was buried by the dentist, District Attorney Keyes requested the statement of Earle Hunt, brother of the murdered woman.

Hunt told Keyes that Young was desperately in love with his beautiful office assistant, Miss Leopold, 24.

"She was at Young's house nearly every night after the murder," Hunt declared.

The "gas killer," after posing for photographs at the district attorney's office, declared this afternoon he had no defense plans.

"I don't want any attorneys to defend me. I just want to set my personal affairs in order—that's all. I'm ready to tell everything I know and make a clean breast of it," the dentist said.

Establishing what the district attorney claimed was proof that the dentist carefully planned his wife's murder, Keyes announced

HUSBAND USES DEADLY DENTAL GAS TO TAKE LIFE OF RICH WOMAN

Calmly Confesses Dropping Body Into Cistern; Plans to Kill Family of Four for $1,000,000 Estate

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Dr. Thomas W. Young, Los Angeles society dentist, who gassed to death his beautiful wife, Grace, wealthy clubwoman, murdered for money.

That was declared today by District Attorney Asa Keyes, following the startling discovery of the existence of a will, signed within the last two weeks by Young's 18-year-old stepson, Charles Patrick Grogan, son of the California "olive king," which left the youth's $1,000,000 fortune to the dentist.

The "scientific murderer," who held a vial of deadly liquid gas, known as somnifform, over his wife's nostrils and then dropped her body into a cistern under his summer cabin in Beverly Glen, planned to wipe out a family of four persons to gain the Grogan dollars, Keyes declared.

Young, the district attorney said, "is not crazy," and the carefully planned murder of his wife was merely the first step to satisfy his love for gold. He planned, Keyes said, to murder young Grogan, Grogan's uncle, Earle R. Hunt, and his wife's father, F. W. Hunt, if necessary, in order to obtain the Grogan millions.

Delving into the love life of Dr. Young, district attorney's office investigators this afternoon discovered a complaint charging the "scientific murderer" with bigamy was issued here in 1917.

Young was charged with marrying Inez Irene Hogue at Attica, Ohio, January 3, 1913, before he had obtained a final decree from his first wife, Katherine G. Young. The complaint was dismissed after it was found his marriage to Miss Hogue had been annulled.

That a love motive may have been linked with Young's desire for the millions of his stepson, Charles Patrick Grogan, was the belief of the district attorney, as he questioned the brother of the murdered woman regarding Young's reported infatuation for Miss Dorothy Leopold, his office assistant. ## DENTIST CALM AT SCENE OF TRAGEDY

Visits Beverly Glen Cabin And Shows Officers How He Buried Body

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Without the least evidence of emotion, Dr. Thomas W. Young yesterday reenacted the incidents leading up to slaying and burying of his wife, Grace Young, at their Beverly Glen cabin on the night of February 21. Accompanied by the district attorneys' investigators, the dentist visited the scene of the tragedy and told how the body was removed from his automobile to the eighteen-foot cistern in the basement of the cabin, where it was later covered with cement.

Under Dr. Young's direction a police car containing Dr. Young, Deputy District Attorney Harold L. Davis, head of the homicide division; Investigator Charles Reimer and others, wended its way up the canyon to the cabin. Dr. Young told them where to stop the car—on the spot where he halted his car the night Mrs. Young disappeared. As Dr. Young climbed from the police car, he was asked how he got Mrs. Young's body from his car to the cabin.

"Took that wheelbarrow over there, pushed it up to the car and dragged her into the wheelbarrow," Dr. Young said. When he was asked if Mrs. Young was dead at that time, Dr. Young smiled, but said nothing.

When detectives and investigators began searching around the cabin for the nickel-plated contrivance he used when he administered a five-centimeter tube of somnoform, heavy dental gas, which Dr. Young admitted caused Mrs. Young's death, the dentist told them they would find others of the same kind in his office.

The dentist's replies to questions fired at him as the party stood around the top of the cistern were elusive, and he smiled when they asked him about a bottle of colorless fluid labeled Novocain, which was found upstairs in the cabin. The bottle contained enough Novocain to kill several persons, according to the investigators.

Views Wife's Body
Early in the day Dr. Young surprised the investigators when he asked to be taken to the Strother & Dayton undertaking establishment in Hollywood, where his wife's body had been removed after being taken from the cistern.

At the mortuary Dr. Young was calm and cool, and at no time did he show any symptoms of breaking down as he viewed the body of his wife. When questioned by Deputy District Attorney Davis in an effort to establish legal identity of the body as that of Mrs. Young, the dentist did not seem to care to commit himself.

Proposed Banking Site Used For Gas Station
Excavating was started today to level the northeast corner lot at Brune and Broadway and Wilson avenue, on which construction will be started at once of a gasoline service station. An automobile park will also be installed, according to W. E. Evans, owner of the property. A small group, members of which have not been announced, have leased the lot from Evans on a contract that contains a ninety-day termination clause.

Negotiations have been under way, it is understood, for the purchase of the property for the erection of a modern office and banking building, but up to the present time they have not been completed.

Private radio installation finally is permitted by law in Rumianka.

Deadly Dental Gas Used for Wife Slaying

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Somnoform, the heavy dental gas Dr. Thomas W. Young confessed he used to snuff out the life of his wife on the night of February 21, is a gaseous compound containing thirty-five parts of methyl chloride and five parts of ethyl bromide, prepared by the action of hydrochloric acid on the methyl alcohol in the presence of zinc. An overdose of somnoform, according to medical authorities, is as deadly as lethal gas. Somnoform inhibits the function of the nerve centers and produces anemia of the brain. It is applied from a glass tube, the somnoform entering slowly through a rubber cone or tubing which is inserted in the mouth of the patient.

COURT BATTLE OVER YOUTH TO CEASE

Son Of Murdered Woman To Become Ward Of His Grandfather

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Charles Patrick Grogan, son of Patrick Grogan, "olive king," and Mrs. Grace Young, murdered wife of Dr. Thomas W. Young, will become the ward of his grandfather, F. W. Hunt, as the result of the murder of the youthful heir's mother, it was indicated by Attorney A. E. Sherman, who the youth asked to be made his guardian.

After Mrs. Young's mysterious disappearance on February 21, the father of the missing woman petitioned the probate court to appoint him guardian of the youth who will inherit the $1,000,000 estate of the former olive king. A few days later, Attorney Sherman filed a petition for the youth, who stated he wanted Attorney Sherman for his guardian.

Yesterday the youth announced that he wanted to live with his grandfather after the boy and Mr. Hunt had talked together for the first time since the confession of Dr. Young. He greeted his grandfather warmly, although he treated the Hunt family coolly during the days his mother's whereabouts were unknown.

When the youth was told by his stepfather, Dr. Young, early yesterday morning that his mother had been slain, Pat refused to believe it. Dr. Young repeated to the youth the same confession he made to officers several hours earlier. The unexpected blow left the youth dazed. Speaking about Dr. Young, the youth said: "He has always been good to me. He has discussed my affairs with me and my future. I was ambitious to be a lawyer. I wanted to study law and to be educated. The doctor talked over my plans and encouraged me. We were constant pals. I went with him almost every place. He loved me and I loved him. I was sure he never could do anything harmful to my mother and that she would turn up some place in the east."

The youth is 18 years old and attends Harvard Military academy. He mixed the cement that was used in covering the body of his mother after Dr. Young had placed the body in the cistern at their Beverly Glen cabin, but at the time was unaware that he was sealing up the grave of his mother.

Buenos Aires and Italy are connected by a new submarine cable.

GIRL AIDS IN ADMISSION OF GUILT

Employee In Dental Office Helps Officers Obtain Amazing Confession

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Aiding in getting the astounding confession of murder from Dr. Thomas W. Young was a pretty girl of 24 years, possessed of personal charm and reserved of nature, Miss Dorothy A. Leopold, office assistant for four years in Dr. Young's office.

"I told them if I could talk to Dr. Young for fifteen minutes I could tell whether he was guilty, and if he was, that he would confess to them after I finished talking with him."

Such was the statement of the beautiful young woman, who aided District Attorney Asa W. Keyes and Deputy District Attorney Harold L. Davis in getting the astounding confession from the doctor.

Quiet reserve is seen in Miss Leopold's every action and word. She lives with her mother in the Eddy apartments. She is vitally interested in her work, and lives apart from the world. It was the mother who secured the services of Nick Harris, detective, to help her and her daughter in the entanglement which swept them into the grilling of Dr. Young and investigation of the disappearance of his wife. After conference with Mr. Harris the girl sought a fifteen minutes' conference with Dr. Young.

In the conference she urged the doctor to help clear up the case if he knew where Mrs. Young was, and his cryptic answer was "I can't."

"I urged him to talk freely. I told him the officers were digging around the Glen and the house, and that they were taking apart the cistern he had built. This had been told to me by Dr. Davis, who asked me to tell him this. I did so, and the result was his confession." Such is the story of the girl.

Shocked by the atrocity of the crime as revealed in her employer's confession, the girl is under a severe nervous strain. "Oh, it is so hard for me to believe all this, it makes me shudder. I worked for the doctor for four years, expect for a few months this year, when I was ill from pneumonia. His wife and I were very good friends. Dr. Young always seemed to have considerable money, as he collected $500 to $1000 a month. Dr. Young specialized in extracting teeth. This case is all the more strange because of the attitude of the doctor's mind in connection with his medical work."

Faints at Operation
"Although he could extract teeth and perform necessary dental operations, he avoided seeing others perform them. Once he went to view another dentist operate, and he collapsed in a faint at the sight of the blood. He was always tender with the people in his chair. Yet he had the most powerful grip of any person I have ever known."

"Two or three times the doctor invited my mother and Patrick Grogan to accompany him to the house in Beverly Glen. We went over the week-end. It makes me shudder to think of it now, how close we were to that ghastly place."

Following Dr. Young's confession to the officers, Miss Leopold heard it from his own lips in an early morning scene Sunday at her home. Dr. Young walked into the house and looked at her. There was virtually no greeting between them.

"I just told them I killed her and cemented her body in the cistern," he said. "Do not see me again. Take good care of Patrick for me, always."

Miss Leopold replied simply: "I am glad you cleared this up. I shall look out for Patrick."

The doctor cast his head down on the floor, turned around and walked out.

It was the last interview he expects to have with Dorothy Leopold.

HELD TO COURT
C. H. Goodwin, 2024 San Fernando road, was arrested yesterday on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. He was scheduled to appear this afternoon before Police Judge J. Russell Morton for arraignment. Bail has been fixed at $300.

CONFESSES AS HE IS EATING APPLE PIE

Slayer Smiles In Answer To Questions Relating To Wife's Murder

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Details of the "murder of science," which paved the way for finding the body of Mrs. Grace Young, former wife of Patrick Grogan, "olive king," and wife of Dr. Thomas W. Young, and later cleared up the mystery surrounding the case, were told district attorney's representatives by Dr. Young Saturday night and Sunday in two confessions.

County officials, hardened by recitals of crime and through contact with criminals of the lowest type, marveled as Dr. Young calmly admitted Saturday night, as he sat in a fashionable Broadway cafe sipping coffee and eating apple pie, that he had killed his wife and thrown her body in the cistern at their Beverly Glen cabin home.

These same officials heard Dr. Young give more detailed information several hours later, saw him stand on the brink of the death crypt without a tremor of emotion, saw him smile in answer to questions, heard him nonchalantly relate how he snuffed out the life of his wife with somnoform, a deadly dental gas when administered in an overdose, watched him as he viewed the body of his wife at a Hollywood morgue and listened as he revealed the incidents leading up to the crime and what he did on the night of February 21.

Says Mind Blank
In his first confession, Dr. Young said that he did not remember how he killed his wife. He said his mind was blank from the time his wife struck him in the face at the plantation, until he dropped her body into the cistern. But in the second confession, Dr. Young told how he had stupefied his wife with liquor, then administered the somnoform. He told how he carried the body from his car to the basement of the summer cabin in a wheelbarrow.

On the heels of the "second confession" came the report that Nick Harris, private detective, had found a will drawn within the last two weeks in which Dr. Young was made the principal beneficiary of his stepson, Charles Patrick Grogan. The stepson is heir to the $1,000,000 estate of his father, Patrick Grogan, "olive king," and officials declare that the will blocks the assertions made by Dr. Young that he killed his wife during a fit of insanity.

firemen attempted to reach the trapped man but were driven back by heavy fumes. When finally reached, Herley was found backed against a wall with his hands grasping an elevator shaft to keep his head above water. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the emergency hospital.

Two other firemen were rendered unconscious by smoke in the Berg Brothers' fire. Origin of the Berg Brothers' blaze is unknown. The explosion of a boiler in the Miller & Lux packing plant started the South San Francisco conflagration. The flames swept rapidly to the adjacent plants of Levy & Co., J. G. Jackson and the H. Moffat Union Sheep Co.

Cattle, sheep and hogs, awaiting slaughter in pens near the burning structure, were herded through streets to points of safety.

Diamond Ring Only Clew Leading to Man's Arrest

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—"Like Leopold and Loeb, the Chicago youths who murdered Bobby Franks, Dr. Young thought he had worked out the perfect crime," District Attorney Asa Keyes declared today.

"For years the dentist had planned his wife's murder, I believe, and even went so far as to construct the cistern beneath his summer cabin home, into which he dropped her body."

But the "murder of science" had one hole, according to Keyes, who declared that Young boldly stripped from his wife's hand a large diamond ring, which he later presented to his pretty assistant.

"This was the one and only clue we had following Mrs. Young's strange disappearance," the district attorney said. "We knew Mrs. Young had always worn this ring and from this start we succeeded in wringing a complete confession from the dentist."

Beverly Glen, the scene of the murder, is a pretty canyon not far from Beverly Hills, the home of many motion picture stars, and has been known as "the ravine of death," since the brutal slaying there four years ago of J. Belton Kennedy.

The Young cabin, where the dentist gassed his wife to death, is only a short distance from the Kennedy cabin. Kennedy was shot to death as he started to enter his cottage. Madeline Obenchain and Arthur Burch, arrested on charges of murdering Kennedy, were released after jury disagreements.

Clara Phillips, the "hammer murderer," now serving a life sentence in San Quentin for the killing of Alberta Meadows, was reported by officers to have first hidden in a Beverly Glen cabin after Mrs. Meadows was killed.

LURE OF GOLD MOTIVE FOR SLAYING

Family Of Four Marked For Death By Dr. Young, Officers Declare

Young, according to Keyes, killed his wife because he was "money mad" and the dentist undoubtedly planned to wrest the Grogan fortune from his stepson by any means necessary, the district attorney declared.

Insanity, it was predicted today, will be Young's defense. "I'm crazy," Young told detectives. "Of course I'm crazy or I would not have done what I have."

An interior complex, nurtured from childhood, until it gave the dentist the uncontrollable desire to kill, will be the basis of the Young defense, it was said. "I fully expect medical experts and alienists will be retained in an effort to save Young from the gallows," Keyes said.

Girl Aids Officers
The district attorney said he believed at the same time he planned the murder, the dentist also planned a defense in the event evidence against him was uncovered.

Miss Dorothy Leopold, Dr. Young's faithful young assistant, assisted the authorities in unravelling the murder mystery, according to the district attorney's office. She was said to have urged Young to talk freely, after she, herself, had been questioned regarding a diamond ring owned by the murdered woman, which the dentist had given her.

Faculty Dinner Honors Principal Of School

Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, principal of Broadway school, was honored Saturday night by members of her faculty, who entertained with a dinner and theatre party in Los Angeles. Mrs. Ryan is anticipating spending the summer months with her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Hyde, in San Francisco. Yesterday Mrs. Ryan with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. ## ALWAYS LOSES IN CONTEST WITH LIFE

Dr. Young Says He Is 'The Goat' In Every Encounter, Even Wedding Day

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Dr. Thomas W. Young, society dentist, murdered his wife because all his life he had been "the goat," he declared today.

"Someone had always been imposing on me," the dentist said, as he sat in his jail cell smoking an ever-present cigar. "All my life I have been beaten physically and mentally."

"I was always the goat. "Someone was always beating me. After losing I would go into a rage and the desire for revenge was often so strong I wanted to kill."

"I used to take long walks on lonely roads to fight off this feeling."

"On the day of our wedding my wife told me she was going to be boss. This enraged me. I did not speak to her again for an hour."

"She always quarreled with me and my married life was always unbearable."

Young is a small, slight man, soft-spoken and almost timid, but described by the authorities as "the coolest slayer ever questioned by police."

Calmly the self-confessed slayer drew a picture of the rubber cone he used in applying the death dose of somnoform to his wife. He also roughly sketched the vial which contained the somnoform and passed the drawings to reporters without shaking an ash from his burning cigar.

Record Realty Move Blots Out Valley Sun

BAKERSFIELD, June 15.—One of the largest movements in real estate in recent years—and in record time—was reported in the San Joaquin valley over the weekend, a dust storm starting Saturday afternoon continuing until this morning when the thousands of tons of loose dirt sifted to earth again. Cold winds and a haze which completely obliterated the burning sun of three days previous were noted.

LEGAL BATTLE TO OPEN ON S. P. GRADE

Hearing On Petition Is Set
For Tomorrow Before
State Commission

Glendale tomorrow will begin its battle before the State Railroad commission to obtain a lowering of the grade of the Southern Pacific tracks their entire length within the city limits, and to overcome an opposition move to permit the tracks to remain at their present level and to construct subway crossings at Los Feliz road, Brand boulevard and other important crossing points.

City Attorney Ray L. Morrow and Assistant City Attorney Leslie Tarr will represent the city before the railroad commission at a hearing on a petition filed several weeks ago by the Los Angeles Grade Crossing commission asking for a survey of grade crossing conditions. The grade crossing commission has recommended that the subway plan be ordered by the railroad commission. The Southern Pacific also favors the subway.

FIVE DEAD AS BOAT SWEEPED BY WAVES

Riverside Residents Drown
In Harbor At Newport;
Twelve Are Saved

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Heavy ground swells in the entrance to Newport harbor took a toll of five lives yesterday when the pleasure launch "Thelma" overturned. Twelve others on the boat narrowly escaped with their lives. The dead are: Edgar Morris, E. E. McClain, Jack Morris, W. W. Squires and L. Farnsworth, all of Riverside. The party had left the inner harbor at 6 o'clock yesterday morning for a fishing trip.

The survivors are: Fred Hock, A. Huber, Frank Morris, Myron Eland, Fern Hock, Ellsworth Mott, William McDermott, Earl Griggs, Jack Berry, H. P. O'Hlin, A. Johnson and William Smeed. Foremost in the rescue work was Duke Kahonamoku, champion Hawaiian swimmer, who brought three men to shore on a surfboard. The engine of the launch was put out of commission by a heavy wave which dashed over the ship. Another monstrous wave swept the men from the deck into the sea.

This morning the little chap toddled to his father and, holding up his arms, said, "Daddy, I'll have to kiss you, for 'Pal' is gone."

GLENDALE IS DROWNED IN BIG WAVE

S. E. Newton Swept From Rock While Fishing
At Laguna Beach

S. E. Newton, aged 38, 1326 East Broadway, proprietor of the Glendale Enameling Works, 232 South Orange avenue, was drowned and two other Glendale people narrowly escaped death when they were washed from a huge rock into the raging sea two miles north of Laguna Beach, early yesterday morning.

Claire Newton, 12-year-old son of the drowned man, and Dewey Dunham, associated in the ownership of the enameling works, were with Newton when the ground swell swept them from the rock on which they were sitting fishing. As the wave passed the trio were dropped many feet back onto the jagged rocks. Newton's head struck against a sharp edge and he lost consciousness, according to his son. The outgoing wave carried him to sea. His body has not yet been recovered.

Mrs. Newton and her daughter Ruth, aged 11 years, witnessed the tragedy from the beach. They heard the roar of the approaching wave and ran from their tent in time to see Newton, his son and Dunham swept into the sea. Mrs. Dunham, also a member of the party, rushed from the tent a moment later.

Reaches Shore Safely
At first Dunham was also reported dead. He too was swept out to sea but, after a terrific struggle, made his way back to the beach. He sustained serious lacerations on the right leg and his ankle was badly wrenched. Claire Newton sustained minor injuries. The Newton party left Glendale by automobile Saturday and motored to Laguna Beach, stopping at an auto camp about two miles from Laguna for the night. The men arose early, and in company with two other fishermen, went to the rock where they were fishing when the wave swept them away. The accident occurred about 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Efforts of rescue parties to locate Newton's body proved fruitless. No sign of the drowned man had been reported until 11 o'clock this morning.

Rough seas and rip tides claimed the lives of three persons at Southern California beach resorts yesterday. Leonard Fehner, 24, of Los Angeles, was drowned late yesterday afternoon at Ocean Park when he was caught in a treacherous rip tide. A. E. Gear, 49, also of Los Angeles, lost his life when a rip tide carried him to sea at Long Beach. His body was recovered.

More than a score of swimmers were rescued at various beaches. General warnings of danger were sent out from all life guard stations along the coast.

AERO LEAGUE DECIDES ON GLENDALE

Aviation Boosters Pick This City For General Base
Of Its Operations

Following a session of the organizers Saturday which lasted from noon until 7 o'clock at night, the Western Aero league was functioning today as a full fledged aeronautical organization, with a definite purpose of promoting commercial aviation throughout western America and with general headquarters established in Glendale.

Permanent officers and directors, headed by Dr. T. C. Young and with Howard I. Wood as general secretary, were elected. By-laws were adopted and articles of incorporation approved and signed and are now ready to go to Sacramento. The league will be fully incorporated within two weeks, it was announced.

Beside this the organizers took definite action appointing Bob Hausler, one of the pioneers of aviation in the west, as field secretary. Hausler will take up his duties immediately, flying in his own airplane from city to city in the interest of the league, lecturing before civic organizations and swelling the membership, which it is hoped will reach many thousands within the year.

Guests of Army
The league organizers met at Ross field, Arcadia, as the guests of Lieut. C. P. Kane, commander. Following lunch the business session was convened at Ross field headquarters. Dr. Young presiding as temporary chairman.

Directors elected are: Dr. Young, Frank H. Page, Howard I. Wood, Earl Ovington and W. G. Scott, three year term; Lieut. C. P. Kane, Elliott H. Barrett, Earl Daugherty, B. P. Spencer and A. E. Olinger, two year term, and Bob Hausler, M. P. Harrison, J. C. Rilling, Thomas B. Slate and J. M. Jennings, one year term.

Officers will be: Dr. Young, president; Earl Ovington, Santa Barbara, first vice-president; Lieut. C. P. Kane, Ross field, second vice-president; Frank H. Page, San Diego, third vice-president; Howard I. Wood, general secretary; A. E. Olinger, Santa Ana, treasurer; Bob Hausler, Arizona and New Mexico, organization and field secretary.

Glendale Chosen
A formal motion placed by M. P. Harrison and unanimously carried established Glendale as official headquarters for the league. General offices of the organization will be maintained in this city.

By-laws, giving wide latitude in which to function and permitting the operation of flying fields, air service stations and other accessory divisions, were adopted after being read by Elliott H. Barrett, consul for the league, and revised. Frank H. Page, San Diego, declared that with the defeat of Senator Lyon's bill on aviation at the hands of Governor Richardson, San Diego will draft its own ordinance providing for the inspection of all airships that carry passengers and for other safety precautions. San Diego has had no civilian aircraft accidents since the war and hopes to continue this record, he said.

Run Ways Established
Bob Hausler said a run way for planes now exists every ten miles or less in the states of California, Arizona and New Mexico. M. P. Harrison, noted balloonist and pioneer aircraft pilot, endorsed the move to advance aviation through chambers of commerce. Maps of five national highways with contemplated landing fields for airplanes every twenty-five miles, were displayed by Wisner Gillette Scott, national officer in half a dozen big highway and park organizations. Pupils of Mrs. Cunningham appearing will be Alice Ayers, Edna Paul, Anna Jones, Edith Winters, Marguerite Chappell, Juan Williams, Rosina Brown, Dorothy Murray, Alena Robinson, Marian Ballard and Gladys Woodyard. Assisting will be Miss Anita Cook, Miss Rose Strauss, Gilmour McDonald, artist pupils of Vernon Spencer; and Miss Joy Klingman, soprano, artist pupil of John Smallman. Mrs. E. R. Ripley will be accompanist. Relatives and friends of the pupils and others interested are invited to attend.

ONE BET LOST HIS CAREER IS RUINED

Former Los Angeles Auditor
Dies Almost Alone After Years Of Regret

Henry J. Kaschub made one misstep when he bet on a horse race early in 1922—and lost. Today his body is being lowered to a lonely grave in Forest Lawn Memorial cemetery while only his aged, broken-hearted father mourns above the mortal form. Prison-broken, deserted by his wife who obtained a divorce last year because he was a felon, Kaschub died alone in the general hospital last week.

On that day in 1922 he bet only $10 on the horserace, but it was part of his salary. He was afraid to tell his wife. He appropriated city funds to bet again "on a sure thing," to recoup. Again he lost.

Kaschub was former auditor of the city engineer's office in Los Angeles. Ten days ago he was paroled from San Quentin because of his broken health. By a queer twist of fate his death was due to a skull fracture sustained on the day his misappropriations were discovered. Fainting he fell to the floor of the city engineer's office, striking his head with great force. He has never been well since.

Never Was Lucky
On January 19, 1923, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve from one to fourteen years in San Quentin. He had led a blameless life until he was encouraged to bet his $10 on the Tia Juana race. To recoup, he tried frantically again and again to "cover up." But always the result was the same. His pecuniations ran to thousands of dollars. His lucky day never came.

Mrs. Kaschub promised at his trial in 1922 to wait for him. To the judge she praised him as a man and a husband. But she did not come near him in his last days.

Today only his father, a few old office friends and some fellow Elks are watching while the casket that bears his remains are being lowered into the grave.

Fate has closed its account with the man who stole.

John Richardson And Bride Return To City

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Richardson, whose marriage was an event of May 6, returned home late last week from a six weeks' sojourn in the Hawaiian Islands, and are now at home to their friends in De Verdugo Court, 112-A West Dryden street. Mrs. Richardson was formerly Miss Constance Fowler of Hollywood. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson have many friends in the islands and were entertained extensively during their stay. They toured to the various points of interest, and enjoyed swimming and surf board riding.

Sewing For Hospital Asked From Auxiliary

Mrs. E. J. Morgan, president of Glendale auxiliary of the Children's hospital, expects to attend the hospital board meeting Thursday morning and requests that all sewing for the auxiliary, if completed, be brought to her home, 1125 South Central avenue, in order that she may deliver it at this meeting.

CONTRACT ON CITY HALL AWARDED

Actual Work On Annex Will Start Within Week As Result Of Action

Construction of the city hall annex, with jail quarters and equipment to cost about $40,000, will be started on property owned by the city between the present city hall and the Public Service department building on Howard street, within the next week.

Contract for the construction was awarded by the City Council today to the Hellman Construction Co., Los Angeles, low bidders, for $34,270. The bid, however, did not include cells nor other equipment. Bids on jail equipment will be opened by the council on June 25.

The entire cost of the building and jail will be covered by appropriations from various city departments of amounts included in the 1924-1925 budget, but which are unexpended. Today a total of $47,700 was transferred from various funds to the city hall annex building appropriation.

Money Transferred
A resolution providing for the transfer of $26,713 to the annex fund, $33,597 to other city departments and $18,355 to the unappropriated reserve from revenues collected during the year in excess of the amount estimated when the budget was compiled, was adopted, and by motion a total of $20,987 was transferred to the city hall annex appropriation from other departments.

BOYS REPRIMANDED

A group of small boys ranging in age from 9 to 14 were severely reprimanded late Saturday night by Police Sergeant Lauritzen, after they had been held by Patrolman Herbert of the Glendale Merchants Patrol on a charge of discharging firecrackers in a store doorway at 229 North Brand boulevard.

Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue, and Jack Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawson of 1663 Grand View avenue, graduated from Occidental college at exercises held Saturday afternoon at the new Greek theatre. Miss Ingledue is a member of Alpha sorority and was president of the organization during last year. She was also president of the Associated Women Students of the college.

Miss Dorothy Koepke Returns From Oregon

Miss Dorothy Koepke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koepke, Cumberland and Ard Evin avenues, arrived home yesterday morning from Eugene, Ore., where she has been attending the University of Oregon. She plans to resume her studies at the college next year. Mr. and Mrs. Koepke and daughter are planning to leave July 12 for a trip to Alaska.

Temperance League Meeting Postponed

Miss Zora Glassey of 460 West California avenue has been called out of the city by serious illness, and the meeting of the Loyol Temperance League, to have been held at her home tomorrow afternoon, has been postponed until next week.

DORAN SCHOOL VISITED BY FIREBUG

Third Attempt To Destroy
Building Is Discovered
Early This Morning

State, county and city officials today redoubled their efforts to capture the pyromaniac who for the third time in the past month set fire to the Doran elementary school, Doran and Everett streets, at 1 o'clock this morning.

Oily rags were placed under the floor sills of a four-room annex and set alight by the fire bug, who is believed by Glendale officials to be some person with a grudge against the Board of Education or the Doran school authorities, or demented.

L. E. Grosse, a night watchman employed by a private patrol who has been keeping a close watch on the Doran school since two former efforts to destroy it, saw the flames as they came from under the edge of the building and started up the sides of the structure. He notified the police department, from whence the call was relayed to fire station No. 1.

Damage Is Slight

Because of quick action, the damage to the school annex was only nominal, but had the efforts of the pyromaniac been successful, nearly 300 children, formerly housed in the main building destroyed several weeks ago, and in the two annexes, would have been forced entirely out of any school building. They have been attending in half-day sessions since the first fire early in May, that caused a loss of approximately $12,000. The firebug succeeded in practically totally destroying the main building at the Doran school in the first blaze on May 10. He started the blaze in the central court of the structure and it was not discovered until the whole building was in flames. Two weeks ago oily rags were placed

Daily Greeting to News Readers

THE JUDGMENT DAY—

- Comes every day in the year.
- Holds no terrors for the man who has kept faith with himself.
- Is not so much a matter of theology as of experience.
- Is the product of all your yesterdays.
- Usually upsets a lot of cock-sure opinions.
- Is a poor time to put those overdue resolutions to work.

IMPORTS GROWING

When we are considering our foreign trade we sometimes think that a growth in the amount of our exports always indicates economic health while any increase in imports is to be feared as inimical to our national prosperity. But since the World War we have ceased to be a self-contained nation and are dependent upon our imports for the employment of thousands in industries which look to foreign countries for raw materials.

The United States has the largest and most varied assortment of raw materials of any country in the world yet it is necessary to import a steadily increasing quantity of supplies of every nature from every part of the globe. Our imports have grown enormously, which does not indicate an adverse trade balance in the least. An excess of imports is proof that the United States is a creditor nation and is receiving goods in payment of sums owed us and the money received for them enables the foreign producer to buy materials from us. Again, inbound freight is essential to successful operation of an American merchant marine as well as to railroads carrying imports from seaports and from Canada and Mexico.

The World's Work enumerates a vast number of products which are used in industries in this country and which must be imported. In the steel industry there are twenty separate items, representing sixty countries, that are not found in this country or are produced in insufficient quantities.

Agriculture is dependent upon imported fertilizers; the potteries must have clay from abroad and the rubber depends entirely upon foreign sources of supply. We import textiles, crude drugs, herbs, vegetable oils used in soaps, brush bristles, coffee, tea, cocoa, cork, bamboo and hundreds of other articles and substances.

E. Dana Durand of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce says that "one of the most striking developments in our trade during the last decade has been the increase in the importations of tropical and other exotic products such as sugar, coffee, cocoa, bananas, other fruits, rubber and silk. The increase in the imports of these articles is attributable to the advancing standard of living in the United States and to its large buying power, with a consequent growing demand for those commodities which we ourselves cannot produce."

It would seem that our growing trade with the nations would tend to promote understanding and cement friendship among us.

WE ARE LAW BREAKERS

Fines imposed by Judge Lowe in his court for the month of May amounted to more than $5,000. Is it not strange that in such a city as this we should violate the ordinances to such an extent? We are rated as one of the most intelligent communities in the United States. We have none of the immigrant class, none who are forced to crime by poverty or ignorance. We have schools and churches that are among the best in the land and many other agencies for our improvement and enlightenment. In the face of all these influences it becomes necessary in a single month to tax us $5,000 for infringements of the law.

We do not mean to censure judge or juries for they but do their duty when the evidence shows that the law has been violated. But it is remarkable that a community, made up of people who are discerning and progressive, should, through lack of forethought or want of integrity, transgress to such an extent.

It is presumed that May was an average month in the amount of fines assessed in the Glendale court and, while a portion of this sum was collected from people who do not live in Glendale, yet the amount for which we are responsible is sufficiently large to provide food for serious reflection.

HIGHWAY MAINTENANCE

Although Governor Richardson failed to sign the Breed bill—for good reasons—he did affix his signature to a bill which will mean a great deal in the immediate future in travel conditions in many sections of the state. Assembly bill 589, sanctioned by the highway commission, codifies the laws pertaining to the administrative duties of the commission and clarifies certain points which have arisen under the separation of that department from the department of public works.

The most important provision of this law is one which directs the highway commission to maintain all traversable roads which have come into the system either by legislative act or the various bond issues. There are over 1000 miles of these roads in the system which in the past have not had maintenance care. Reasonable care, maintenance and improvement of this mileage are now assured and the commission will begin immediately to give relief to those communities that have been waiting since the first bond issue of 1909 for some sort of service.

USE CARE IN MOUNTAINS

The recent rains, while they may have done some damage to fruit, have reduced the mountain fire hazard to some extent. But word comes from forest supervisors to keep accenting the necessity for care in the forests to avoid fires this summer. Fire continues to be the greatest single agency of forest destruction.

For the past eight years the average annual number of forest fires in this country was 41,500. During this time 9,000,000 acres of forest land burned over annually. The direct commercial timber loss, exclusive of destruction of young growth, wild life and recreational values was nearly $18,000,000 a year.

Vacation time is here. Armies of us will be going into the mountains this summer. Let us not think that because the rains have been more abundant this year that we can relax our vigilance. A little caution on the part of pleasure-seekers may mean the saving of lives and valuable property.

"By hickory," declares Chauncey Depew, "the world is getting better." When Chauncey was a boy the younger generation was made better by hickory

Analyzing the Emotions

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Ellnor Glyn recently said that when we analyze hate we find that most of it is composed of fear. We fear those persons we hate. If we do not fear them the feeling is rather of contempt. Looking into all of our emotions it might be as well to analyze them and see the stuff of which they are composed.

Jealousy, for instance, under careful scrutiny, is seen to be nothing but egotism.

It is commonly supposed that jealousy comes from great love, but there have been many instances of jealousy toward persons concerning whom we are entirely indifferent.

Jealousy really is a form of vanity.

It would do us all good to analyze the feeling which we call love. How much of it is self-interest, desire merely, and how much of it is self-sacrificing devotion? Can we be willing for a person to be happy and not have anything to do with ourselves? Can we let other people make them happy, or can we let them be happy in their own way?

A good deal of love, if analyzed, will be found to be mere selfishness.

In fact, selfishness is the base ingredient that enters into and corrupts most of our passions. Very few of our emotions and purposes are purely unselfish.

Ellnor Glyn's statement that hate is mostly composed of fear is correct. If the nations did not fear one another they would scarcely bother to hate one another. In the crisis of war it is essential that hate should be worked up, and this hate is usually based upon the damage other nations may do to us.

Much envy and jealousy and anger are also mingled with the inferiority complex. Some men hate people who can tell a good story or be at ease in society because they cannot themselves. For others to display qualities which they do not have makes them angry. The inferiority complex is very hard at work in the human race.

It is the explanation to a very great extent of why people do not like millionaires or successful men. We resent anything that seems to make a person superior to ourselves. We enjoy giving charity to other people, but we do not like to receive charity from people. It implies that they are better, or at least more successful, than we.

In a recent book called "Inspiration and Ideals" by Grenville Kleiser, exhorting us to see things as they are, he says:

"Sin is ignorance; noise is inefficiency; anger is weakness; self-pity is selfishness; pride is littleness; sloth is weakness; prejudice is narrowness; envy is meanness; simplicity is greatness; righteousness is wisdom; truth is reality; holiness is wholeness; love is unselfishness."

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

After all, a man passes for what he is worth. Very idle is his curiosity concerning other people's estimate of us, and idle is all fear of remaining unknown.

If a man knows that he can do anything—that he can do it better than anyone else—he has a pledge of the acknowledgment of his worth by other persons.

Emerson, who was of this mind, opined that the world is full of judgment days, and into every assembly that a man enters, in every action he attempts, he is gauged and stamped. Just as in every troop of boys that whoop and run in the street, a newcomer is accurately weighed in the balance in the course of a few days and stamped with his right number, as if he had undergone a formal trial of his strength, speed and temper.

What has he done? What does he do? These are the questions that search men and transpire very false reputation.

Pretension may sit still, but cannot act. Pretension never wrote a Shakespeare play, or flew a plane around the world, or discovered radio.

"Always as much virtue as there is, so much appears; as much goodness as there is, so much reverence it commands," Emerson observed. "All the devils respect virtue."

"The high, the generous, the self-devoted set will always instruct and command mankind."

"Never a sincere work was utterly lost."

"Never a magnanimity fell to the ground. Always the heart of man greets and accepts it unexpectedly."

To repeat, a man passes for what he is worth. What he is engraves itself upon his face, on his form, on his fortunes, in "letters of light which all men may read but himself."

Concealment avails him nothing; boasting nothing.

There is confession in the glances of our eyes; in our smiles; in salutations; and the grasp of hands.

Confucius exclaimed: "How can a man be concealed! How can a man be concealed!"

If you would not be known to do anything, never do it.

"A man may play the fool in the drifts of the desert, but every grain of sand shall seem to see," Emerson opined.

"He may be a solitary eater, but he cannot keep his foolish counsel. A broken complexion, a swinish look, ungoverned acts and the want of due knowledge—all blab. Can a cook, a Chiffinch, an Iachimo be mistaken for Zeno or Paul?"

Who's Who

Dr. William W. Peet of Minneapolis, chairman of the Near East Relief in Constantinople, has returned to the United States, after forty years of philanthropic service in the Near East.

He went to Constantinople in 1855 as head of the American board of Foreign Missions, and has been confidential adviser to every American diplomat in the Near East since the days of General Lew Wallace. He was one of the American plenipotentiaries at the Allied Conferences which negotiated the Treaty of Lausanne two years ago. Among the native races of the Near East he was affectionately known as the "Wise Man from the West," and it was declared that no other foreigner had so wide an influence on Near Eastern governments and peoples.

Born at Fall River, Mass., Feb. 14, 1851, Peet was educated at the Williston Seminary, East Hampton, Mass., and Grinnell College where he received the degrees of A. M. and LL. D.

As a young man he taught school in Adair Co., Ia., and later was employed in the office of the general manager of the Burlington and Mo. R. R.

Peet has conducted relief work many times in Asia Minor and Thrace; he served on the Anglo-American committee at the request of the British Ambassador.

1895-96 distributing $2,000,000; he represented Turkish missions on deputation to U. S. about rights of American missions and institutions in Turkey, 1902; in 1909 he was chairman of the exploration committee to Albania for mission work; he was delegate to the World's Missionary Conference at Edinburgh in 1910 and he was at one time treasurer of the Constantinople Chapter of the American National Red Cross.

He was awarded the Red Cross Medal of Merit; he is a commander of the Order of George I. of Greece, a trustee of the American College for Girls at Constantinople; he is a member of the Y. M. C. A.; was nominated by the Supreme Council League of Nations at Geneva, Switzerland, as chief commander of the American Society of International Law and of the New York Academy of Political Science.

European Pact Will Get No Help In U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The state department today officially denied reports from Paris stating that the United States had been approached to act as the repository nation in the proposed security pact among the European nations. Neither Germany nor any of the allied governments has approached Washington, and it is considered unlikely that they will because it is well known that the United States will not be a party to any security pact or be responsible for it in any way, officials said.

Recent Rain Valuable To Georgia Farmers

ATLANTA, June 15.—Recent showers were "worth millions" to Georgia farmers, according to state agricultural officials. Vegetables, melons, grains and peanuts were suffering from drought.

Man Freed on Murder Charge Seeking Note

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Recalling the slaying of Henry B. Meyer, wealthy Pasadena merchant, and Mrs. C. W. Dorris, in a long Beach apartment house, Charles Dorris, Long Beach capitalist, who was tried and acquitted on a murder charge, appeared in court here today seeking to recover on a $25,000 note said to have been given Dorris by Meyer for loaned money. The note was advanced at the murder trial as a motive for the slaying, the prosecuting attorney charging Dorris shot Meyer in a quarrel over the note.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as a doubtful day, for while Mercury and Neptune are in benefic aspect, Jupiter and Mars are adverse.

It is a day read as favorable to editors, authors and all who receive from Mercury helpful vibrations.

Advertising comes under a most stimulating sway that promises much in return today.

It is a first rate rule under which to pay bills or make financial estimates.

There is a fairly good sign for beginning sea voyages and European travel is to be extraordinarily heavy.

New oil fields will attract capital and there is to be prospecting for minerals this summer.

The Moon today is in Aries, a movable, masculine, fiery sign governing the head and face.

Planetary conditions favor substantial, conservative business procedure, but speculation should be avoided.

The evening of this day is favorable for hydrotherapy, which is to gain many adherents in the coming year.

There is promise that occult discoveries will be announced soon, for the seers declare that new worlds are being explored by the higher forces of humanity.

Women again are warned against the inclination to indulge in flirtation at this time, for the vibrations are likely to increase the trend toward silly sentimentality.

Cold and changeable weather for many parts of the country will interfere with outdoor festivities the remainder of this month, it is predicted.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of much change and travel in the coming year. Those who are employed probably will be promoted.

Today's Poem

LINES
When youthful faith hath fled,
Of loving take thy leave;
Be constant to the dead—
The dead can not deceive.

Sweet modest flowers of spring,
How fleet your balmy day!
And man's brief life can bring
No secondary May;

No earthly burst again
Of gladness out of gloom,
Fond hope and vision vain,
Ungrateful to the tomb.

But 'tis an old belief
That on some solemn shore
Beyond the sphere of grief
Dear friends shall meet once more;

Beyond the sphere of time
And sin and fate's control,
Serene in endless prime
Of body and of soul.

That creed I fain would keep,
That hope I'll not forego—
Eternal be the sleep
Unless to waken so!

—John Gibson Lockhart.

NO NEED OF ANY THEOLOGY MIXUP

Simple Way To Men's Hearts Was Used By Saviour, Says St. Mark's Rector

Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, preached yesterday morning on the subject, "Growing Into a Full Grown Faith in Jesus Christ."

Rev. Mr. Kemp said in part: "St. Paul was truly speaking of the man who had tried to the utmost to live the Christian life when he wrote, 'Wherefore I give you to understand that no man speaking by the spirit of God calleth Jesus accursed: that no man can say that Jesus is the Lord but by the Holy Ghost.' This might be called an 'either or' of the Christian life, for on the one hand no one can blaspheme the name of Jesus who is conscientiously trying to follow Jesus, nor can one accept Jesus as the Son of God but by the power of the Holy Ghost working in Him."

Natural Result

"This amounts to saying that if we shall try to follow the program of Christianity we shall ultimately come to accept Jesus for what the church has always claimed He was, the Son of God. One reaches his convictions about Jesus by living for Him. This is one of the silent verdicts that history has given us. It is only as the spirit of God works in our hearts in the life we are living that we can come to the great decision of life, whom shall we serve?"

"One must catch some of the enthusiasm of our religious life for religion is a thing of enthusiasm, and feel the beauty of her program for life, the liberty we enjoy for real spiritual growth, and cry with the disciples, My Lord and my God. Today the world is brought to Jesus by the same method as His teaching and healing is brought to men by Christ, teaching and living by the Spirit of Christ."

Is Surest Way

"We grow into the fulness of life drawn by the cords of love which lead us on from strength to strength until we bow before Him and call Him Lord. This is a better and more sure way than the road of an intricate theology which repels rather than attracts. Jesus went by the other method of winning men's lives so that theological affirmation became the most natural way to describe their feeling about Him."

Father's Love For Son Is Theme Of Pastor

"Wonderful Love" was the subject of the sermon preached yesterday by Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of First Lutheran church, at the Children's Day service.

Dr. Funk said: "The love indicated by the text, strictly speaking, pertains to the second person of the Holy Trinity. That is to say, the love of the Father is shown in giving His only begotten Son; and the Son manifested His wonderful love when He bestowed His affection on a poor miserable sinner like me."

"Indeed, what more could you want to prove His wonderful love? Oh, but you say, 'I'm a backslider. Can I be saved?' Most assuredly you may. Hear what the good and gracious God himself declares: 'I will heal every backslider.' But to me the most remarkable truth brought out in the development of our theme is the fact that He singles me out from all the rest and bestows His love upon me personally. How ungrateful, then, I would be to refuse to worship and adore Him who so loved me that He gave Himself for me."

Value Of Prayer Used By Pastor As Subject

Rev. R. H. Moon, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, preached yesterday morning on the subject, "When They Had Prayed." Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts sang a gospel solo.

Swami Of India On Creed And Spirituality

Quarterly Meeting Is Conducted By Pastor

Rev. L. D. Thornburg conducted the quarterly meeting yesterday at United Brethren church. A Children's Day program was presented at the night service. Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Spencer were in charge.

Confiding Of God Is Discussed By Preacher

"God's Confiding" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. Maurice M. Johnson, pastor of Broadway Methodist church, South.

CHURCHES MEAN MUCH TO YOUNG

Speaker Points To Effect On Character; Asks Parents To Set An Example

"If you knew you were going to die and leave your children orphans, in whose care and guidance would you wish to leave them?" asked Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor of Grand View Community church, in his sermon yesterday morning on the subject, "The Church and the Children."

Continuing Rev. Mr. Thomas said: "Into whose hands would you put theirs as your own grew weak and cold, and what would you wish to have them taught? You would put their hands into the hands of Him who said, 'Suffer the little ones to come unto Me, and forbid them not; for out of such material is the kingdom of Heaven built.' Into the hand of Jesus who was the first and only great founder of a world religion to love and use and develop the children; into the hand of Jesus who told you that out of such precious human material as your children the kingdom of Heaven must be built."

And of Jesus were not present personally in bodily form, then you would put your little ones into the care and guidance of some loving, tender body of the followers of Jesus, whom He had bidden to stretch out their hands to all the children all about them, to love and care for them and guide them in His name. And you would wish to have them taught to know Him through the cultivation and development of their spiritual natures, would you not? You would want their souls awakened so they could live and grow in the life of the spirit with God as they grow in the body with men."

Builds Character

"Yes, you would want that you would feel safe about the children if you could be sure of that. You would want that whether you are a professing Christian yourself, or not, whether you are a church member or not. That's what you really mean when you admit that it doesn't hurt the children to go to Sunday school, because you are sure they won't learn anything bad there. What you really mean deep down in your heart is that you know that there they will be taught to know 'What is the length and breadth and depth and height and to know the love of Christ that passeth knowledge, that they might be filled with all the fullness of God.' You know that will build eternal character, and you want it done."

"But now, if you are going to live, do you think you can safely neglect what you would want if you were going to die? Can you ignore the Christ into whose hands of Divine redemption you would place your children? Can you stay away from and stay out of the church which is stretching out His hands to your children? Won't it be better if you come and bring your children and help the church keep their hands in His by keeping yours there too and holding fast? Wouldn't you like to help do for other orphaned children, spiritually or physically orphaned, what you would pray to have done for yours? Do you know how many spiritual orphans there are in Grand View? Don't you want to come yourself and receive the spirit of adoption whereby we cry Abba, Father, and then make that spirit mighty all through the community?"

Strong Men Needed

"These are questions enough for one morning. But this is the day of the church and the children, Children's Day. It is the great day in which all of us are awakening to the possibilities in our children, the wondrous means to bringing Christ into their lives, and divine power into their characters. Tomorrow is going to need stronger men. It has greater tasks to be done."

"Tomorrow the Kingdom must show in beauty above the strong foundations which now the church is laying, Jesus Christ himself being the chief cornerstone. Tomorrow our children must build their part, more glorious than ours, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

Pastor Goes To North, Another Takes Pulpit

A Children's day program was presented by the Sunday school yesterday morning at Tropico Presbyterian church. Rev. A. W. McLachlin, 912 East Orange Grove, Glendale, preached last night in the absence of the pastor, Dr. James P. Winnard, who is en route to Alaska, where he will visit the Presbyterian missions. At the services next Sunday Dr. Guy Wadsworth and Dr. Henry T. Babcock will have charge of the preaching services.

Men And Women Of Future Provides Topic

"The Men and Women of Tomorrow" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday by Rev. Ernest E. Ford, pastor of First Baptist church, at the morning church service. Special music was rendered.

MEN HAVE SEEN HEAVEN, HE SAYS

Lutheran Pastor Cites Cases Of Those Who Returned From Beyond Grave

Rev. Henry O. Kringel based his sermon at the Zion Lutheran church yesterday morning on the theme, "Paul's Vision of Heaven," Corinthians 12:2, 4.

In part Rev. Mr. Kringel said: "We have in our scripture text a remarkable account of a most singular experience. We speak of that country from which no traveler returns. We lament that not one of those who have crossed the dark stream which separates this world from the world beyond has ever come back to report to us of that mysterious land. In this we do injustice to ourselves and ungratefully forget what God has done and arranged to enlighten and confirm our faith."

"There are those who have crossed the boundaries of this present life and come back to tell of their visions and experiences. Not only our Saviour Jesus Christ who could not be held of death, but a whole array of God's servants, Isaiah, Ezekiel and John, give a series of such disclosures, telling in their writings of what they saw and heard in yonder further world. In the gospel accounts of the days of our Saviour's ministry we read of the raising of Lazarus, the daughter of Jairus, and the widow's son, Nain. At the resurrection of Christ many bodies of the saints which slept arose and came out of their graves and went into the Holy City and appeared to many. And did not Peter call back from the eternal world the spirit of Dorcas?"

Vision of Paradise

"And in 2 Corinthians 12:2-4 we read of a vision of paradise. It is Paul who is speaking and he is speaking of himself. What he describes was a sort of transport of rapture the manner of which we shall not seek to unravel. The apostle himself tells us that he did not understand it and it is not likely that by prying we shall become any wiser about it than he. The Jews distinguished three heavens, first, the atmospheric regions around us; secondly the region of the heavenly bodies; thirdly, that particular place which is the habitation of God, where Christ has gone and whence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead."

"Thither to the heaven, Paul was suddenly translated. His spirit enjoyed the grand realities of the dwelling place of God. But what appears to us as the strange part of this account is this, that he says of the unspeakable words which he heard 'which it is not lawful for man to utter.'"

Live In Faith

"It behooves us as believers in Christ to live on in humble faith and hope, to trust Jesus and try to perform our duties well, till one of the days or nights this world of toil and of tears shall fade from our sight, and in its stead the believers will behold another glorious world, paradise."

At the large joint mission celebration of all Lutheran churches of Los Angeles held at Eagle Rock park yesterday afternoon Rev. Mr. Kringel delivered an address on the theme, "The Power of the Holy Spirit in the Hearts of Men."

Surprise Affair

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Caddell of Vincent street, Eagle Rock, who are planning to leave the city of next month for Denver, Colorado, were given a surprise farewell party Saturday night by a group of their Glendale and Eagle Rock friends. Luncheon reservations can be made with Mrs. Richardson by calling Glendale 1559-J.

Dance Success

The dance given Saturday night by Sons of Veterans and Sons of Veterans' auxiliary at Sparr Heights Community building, was attended by a large crowd, according to reports. Proceeds of the dance will augment the treasures of both organizations. Jim Jensen was general chairman. Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Pearl Gillett. Music for dancing was furnished by Johnstone's jazz orchestra of Hollywood. A number of guests attending the dance were from the William Fox studio in Hollywood.

PAGEANT SHOWS CHURCH GROWTH

Spread Of Christian Faith Shown In Scenes At Casa Verdugo Sunday School

The Sunday school of Casa Verdugo Methodist church of which O. M. Newby is superintendent, observed Children's day with a colorful pageant, picturing the history of the spreading of Christianity in many countries and growth of the present-day movement of winning the world for Christ.

The pageant was directed by John W. Cotton, who also read the story which was illustrated in a realistic manner by the entrance of the different classes, with some members of each class in costume, emphasizing a portion of the history. Miss Maud Soper's class of girls represented college graduates, with the destiny of the world in their hands and the power of achievement before them. Members of Mr. Cotton's class were in smocks and carried palettes, illustrating the story of the study of religion as interwoven with that of the origin of art. E. H. Wileman's class pictured the story of South America, the "continent of opportunity."

Mrs. E. E. Masters' class portrayed Japan with its romantic history while "Out where the West begins," was pictured by the class of Mrs. Ralph Baugh, Miss Lowell Wright, Charles W. Reiner, and Mrs. Emil Koenig, the members being costumed as cattlemen of the plains, farmers, loggers and miners of New Mexico and Montana. The class of Mrs. Robert D. Jones emphasized the story of India, the land of religions; Miss Adele Drake's class, the missions in China; Miss Margaret Taylor's class, hospital nurses; Mrs. Mary B. Linn's class, the "Goodwill Industries;" Miss Lowell Wright's, medical missionaries; Miss Gladie Drake's, teachers in foreign lands. The pageant was preceded by singing by the primary class under Mrs. Dickey.

Eagle Rock Club

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, president of the Business and Professional Women's club, and a group of eight other club members enjoyed the delightful garden party supper and program given Saturday night by the Business Women's club of Eagle Rock. Mrs. Fisk, founder of the club, opened her attractive home on Casper avenue for the afternoon affair from 5 to 6 o'clock. Supper was served at the Congressional church, where the program was given. Guests were present from Glendale, Pasadena, Burbank and Los Angeles. During the supper Mrs. Fisk called on those present to give their names, ages and what they have done or do. This feature provided opportunity for getting acquainted. Mrs. Snow, president of the hostess club, and Mrs. Richardson, president of the Glendale club, were among those giving greetings.

Honor Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stanley, who were married on June 3, and have returned from a honeymoon trip, were honored Saturday night at the benefit dance given by Glendale Rebekah Odd Fellow lodge at Odd Fellows hall, 201 West Broadway. Nels Johnson, noble grand, of the Odd Fellow lodge presented them with a mahogany mantle clock as a gift from the lodge. The dance was reported to have been largely attended. T. N. Rucker was winner of the door prize. Mrs. Adelaide Meyer was general chairman of the affair. Punch was served during the evening.

Doran School Visited Again By Pyromaniac

beneath a suitcase still standing in the same structure and set alight, but the damage at that time was nominal.

There are two annexes to the main building, constructed on the same school lot, but with no physical connection. Both are relatively new structures. No attempt has been made as yet to destroy one of brick construction, but officials here fear that an attempt may be made to blow it up with dynamite because of the apparent persistency of the person responsible for the three fires. Close watch will be kept over the building day and night hereafter, although heretofore lives of children have not been endangered because of the fact that all the blazes have occurred at night.

Buildings Isolated

The location of the buildings makes it possible for the pyromaniac to set the blaze and escape without being seen. The school is isolated to some extent by a small orchard through which the firebug could flee, officials pointed out today, to an automobile on Glendale avenue. There are no residences near the school. School was resumed today in the annex that figured in last night's blaze and in the brick structure on the same lot.

Representatives of the state fire warden's office started an investigation of the fires, and a local probe is under way under the leadership of Fire Chief A. H. Lankford and Chief of Police John D. Fraser.

Glendale Community Co-operation Will Make Glendale Business Better

LET'S TRADE IN GLENDALE!

It's Good Business
To Patronize
Local Merchants

Glendale Dollars Should Be Spent in Glendale. Each of These Progressive Glendale Concerns Are Backing the Trade-in-Glendale Movement. They Merit Your Patronage. Get Back of This, Too!

Plenty of Money
In Glendale. Let's
Keep It Here!

Community Growth Depends Upon the People

Those who have studied the extraordinary increase in Glendale's population and prestige the past few years can name several contributing causes but the greatest of these is Community Co-operation. The citizens have been devoted to the city's interest and have worked together to encourage further growth.

We should cultivate this sentiment of Community Loyalty more and more. It has proved powerful for good in the past and will be no less efficacious in the future. We have faith in the future and destiny of Glendale, we have a high conception of what Glendale can and will be. We should use every means in our power to reach this ideal. Community growth always depends upon the character and actions of the individuals who make up the community, so it is to the citizens we must look for further progress.

Did you ever hear of any project or any movement that didn't call for a budget first of all? Any improvement or reform undertaken by an organization or by an individual requires money. The first thing to do is to estimate the amount that will be needed and then take steps to raise this sum.

Community building is no different from any other project. It can't be accomplished without money. But our problem is not to raise money. We already have plenty of money in Glendale. What we need to do is to keep it here. When you patronize out-of-town merchants you are squandering our community-building fund. When you trade at home you are conserving it. Our merchants are meeting you more than half way in the size and quality of their stocks of merchandise, in their service and in the reasonableness of their prices.

SOVIET TRADE WAR RUMOR IS DENIED

Foreign Minister Unafraid
Of Threatened Blockade
On Credit Basis

MOSCOW, June 15.—Soviet Russia views with equanimity and disbelief reports that there exists an organized conspiracy on the part of other nations to cut off Soviet credits and raw materials. Foreign Minister Sokolnikoff, who has his finger on the Soviet's economic pulse, laughed at the reports in an interview with International Service today.

"There are no signs of an organized effort to cut off our credits," he declared. Such reports, published in European newspapers, were merely newspaper threats.

Blockade Unlikely
"In the first place such a blockade would not be successful without the United States participating and America will not participate. We are too good a customer. Our recent purchase of cotton in the United States, to the extent of $55,000,000, exceeds any similar expenditure ever made by the Czarist government for this commodity."

"Similarly our purchases of American agricultural machinery and automobiles are too large to be ignored."

Improving as Russo-American economic conditions are, however, M. Sokolnikoff said he wished they were better.

SEAPORT DEFENSES

"We would also like improved political relations," he said. "Normal relations would allow us to multiply our purchases in your country many times."

The foreign minister said Russia's seaports are her best defense. He was referring specifically to possible invasion by Balkan states. Russia's budget for 1925 will amount to three billion fifty million gold rubles ($1,525,000,000), he said.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, June 15.—A short business session of the board of directors of the La Crescenta Improvement association resulted in steps being taken for the betterment of various roads in the valley.

Crescenta district school board announces there will be a free summer school held in the school house from 8 to 12 noon. One class will be held in each school and will be limited to fifteen pupils. Those who are deficient in one subject and those who have failed in a subject and wish to give their undivided attention to it will be received into the school first. Those who wish to advance more rapidly will, after a conference with the principal and on recommendation of their teacher, be admitted also. The school will open June 29.

The graduating class of the Crescenta school were the guests of the B-S Friday afternoon when they were entertained with a farewell class picnic at the Baldrige ranch. After races and other sports, supper was served. Swimming was the principal attraction of the day though the mountain trails were dotted with hikers. Chaperones were Mrs. Dolly Craig, Mrs. L. Anderson, Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. W. Sprinkle.

Ladies of the auxiliary of the Verdugo Hills post served pot

IN Southland

By Southland News Service.
HEAVY FIRE LOSS
BAKERSFIELD, June 15.—Work started today on reconstruction of railroad and private warehouses, destroyed in a $300,000 fire late Saturday, which occupied two block in the Kern section of this city. The Southern Pacific railway and the Ardizzone-Olcese Co. were the heaviest losers. Origin of the fire in the railroad's freight sheds is unknown.

BOY TO SUE RAILROAD
SAN BERNARDINO, June 15.—Preparatory to entering a suit for damages against the Pacific Electric railway for the loss of his parents, Kenneth J. Einwick, through attorneys here, has petitioned the Superior court for a guardian in the person of his grandmother, Mrs. Sophia Theimer. The Einwicks were killed in a crash near Uplands April 26.

FIVE DAYS' WORK
SAN BERNARDINO, June 15.—For three months the Santa Fe railroad shops here will be operated on five days' work a week to finish their crew. It was learned from H. S. Wall, mechanical superintendent. Several departments are not affected by the order.

TO GUARD HIGHWAY
SAN BERNARDINO, June 15.—E. Q. Sullivan, division engineer of the state highway commission, has ordered white wire guards and guard rails for dangerous curves on Waterman canyon road to Big Bear valley as the result of recent fatalities to motorists.

THIEF GETS SCARE
SEAL BEACH, June 15.—The best laid plans of a careful thief, who muffled doors and windows while robbing an apartment house here failed. He knocked over an alarm clock in the darkness and was scared away by a small boy who investigated when he heard the bell ringing.

STREET IS RENAMED
SANTA BARBARA, June 15.—Savoring too much of a melody, Quinlan street here has been renamed Tierra Vista at the request of householders.

STEAL ENCYCLOPEDIA
RIVERSIDE, June 15.—Dr. J. Lewis Gillies has reported to the police that twenty-six volumes of an encyclopedia were stolen from his church study.

CANNERIES TO BE BUSY
ONTARIO, June 15.—Canneries here will open their season June 22 and run full time, it was announced after a survey of the heavy crop of fruits.

Night air traffic between Stockholm and Warnemunde, Germany, will soon be established.

luck lunch Sunday to all helping raise the roof on the legion building at Fairview and Rosemont avenues. The arches were already in place. The proceeds of the dance to be given Saturday, June 20, will go to the building fund of the local legion.

A jolly party has been planned by the O. E. S. club of the valley for Masons and their wives to be given in the Highway Highlands club rooms Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Waste of New York avenue are entertaining at their house guest Mrs. H. M. Baldwin of Seneca, Kan. Mrs. Baldwin who is the sister of Mr. Waste, journeyed to the southland from Kansas with her son who is a member of the Leavenworth Shrine band. The visitor expects to be here for another month or more.

RIOT TIGHTENS PROHIBITION DRAGNET

Anger of Citizens at Arrest
Of Ballplayers Ends
In Rigid Orders

BEN G. KLINE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Citizens of the little town of Willows, Cal., inadvertently and quite unconsciously tightened the strings of prohibition enforcement in this vicinity a few days ago when they arose in righteous wrath and drove two federal prohibition agents from their city on flat tires with irate citizens in pursuit.

The government agents got in bad with the Willows citizenry when they raided a pool hall known as the Fan and arrested none other than the pitcher and catcher of the Willows baseball team—right in midseason, too. Friends flocked to the support of the home town battery and the agents claim they had to draw their guns to prevent the mob from annihilating them. They claim there were cries of "get a rope."

The agents escaped after the trees on their cars had been slashed to shreds.

File Four Charges
Federal complaints charging a deputy sheriff with resisting federal officers and charges against three persons of violating the Volstead act have resulted, but the more important result is the warning issued to bootleggers by Captain Goff, land prohibition director, for the central Pacific coast division. First the citizens of Willows became angry; now Captain Goff is said to have discarded his good humor. Politeness and kind words laid on the shelf, the captain announces the following program:

1. Armed squads will enter communities where liquor is reported to be on sale.
2. Those who resist federal agents are threatened with the use of sawed-off shotguns, tear bombs, revolvers, blackjacks and any other weapons which might make enforcement more effective and safe for the enforcers.
3. No back talk will be tolerated.
4. That will communities hereabouts be shown that federal officials have a right to arrest suspected prohibition offenders even if they are mainstays of a local baseball nine.

Nation's Prosperity Is Sure, Says U. P. Chief

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Business conditions over the country are fair and the entire nation should be above normal late this summer and fall, Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific railroad, declared here today. Good prices for agricultural products will greatly aid property, he said.

Altadena Aroused by Projected Mausoleum

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—A protest against the building of a mausoleum in the residential section of Altadena was lodged with the Board of Supervisors today by the Altadena Citizens association.

LOS ANGELES

By Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, June 15.—There is weeping and wailing at the city hall today as a $6,000,000 slice in the annual budget was announced in order that Los Angeles will live within its $20,000,000 income.

Preparations are being made to combat the reported efforts of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric corporation and the Southern California Gas Co. to gain a raise in rates here. Their application will be filed with the State Railroad commission within the present fortnight, it has been hinted.

A three days' session of officials and civic leaders of the southwest is being held here under the auspices of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Pauline Foster, pretty 19-year-old guest of an apartment hotel, is in the hospital today suffering from injuries received when a steam heater demolished the lobby of the building. She was hit on the head by a flying brick.

New indictments have been placed by the federal grand jury here against Rush Meadows, an attorney, and four others alleged to have committed burglary in connection with the sale of stolen Liberty bonds. Meadows and six others were indicted on narcotic possession charges. Albert Simpson, a 19-year-old Texas youth, was indicted under the Dyer act for having transported a stolen automobile to this city.

Lakeside Golf club on Saturday held ground-breaking ceremonies at their new clubhouse near Universal City in the San Fernando valley.

A hot row has developed over the "canning" of John Steven, secretary of the Los Angeles County Civil Service commission. Members of the board first invited him to quit and when he didn't they made their request public. He has retaliated with a statement that the members were "inexperienced laymen."

Plans are being made by Los Angeles Elks lodge No. 99 for the reception of convention delegates passing through this city the last of the month for their national convention in Portland, the first week in July.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, June 15.—Brilliantly colored parasols hung with gay streamers dotted the lawns of the Reinhard residence on Glendale avenue Friday when the P. T. A. entertained as guests of honor the Montrose staff of teachers. Mrs. Byre, Mrs. Greenberg, Miss Jane Hoham, Miss G. Auxier and Mrs. Boyer. A short business session preceded the installation of officers, reports being heard from Mrs. Perry of the ways and means committee for the year, and Mrs. McConnell, who has attended all the reading circle meetings as representative for Montrose P. T. A. Mrs. Keller, patriotic chairman, led in the salute to the flag and the singing of "America." The year's history was well given by the historian Mrs. Skinner.

Installation of the following officers succeeded the business reports: Mrs. Fredericks, president; Mrs. Milo Giese, vice-president; Mrs. John Simpson, secretary; Mrs. J. V. Collins, treasurer; Mrs. Allen, historian. Mrs. C. W. Angier who has served as president of the parent organization at La Crescenta for two years gave an interesting talk. Nosesays with cunningly hidden crepe handkerchiefs were presented each of the teachers and Mrs. Reinhard, retiring president. At the close of the business ice cream and homemade cakes were served. Mrs. Fredericks, Mrs. Milo Giese and Mrs. Olive Wetmore, the committee on arrangements, were assisted by Mesdames J. D. Van Lonen, J. C. McConnell, John Simpson and G. Skinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Haskins of Waltonia drive entertained at a delightful party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Mark S. Collins and Mrs. Charles Collins who left Saturday for a trip east. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Mark S. Collins, Stuart Collins, Mrs. Charles Collins, Mrs. Alice Higgins, Mrs. Gregg, Helen Virginia, William and Mr. and Mrs. Haskins.

Work on the addition to the Montrose school has been started so as to complete the new rooms in time for the opening of the fall term.

H. Alden and son Horace will leave soon for an extended trip through the east. They will spend some time in Minnesota.

Dr. Lucena Turner, osteopath of Montrose, has found it necessary to enlarge her offices and has leased the flat on the same floor as her present offices in the Reinhard building.

The principal speaker at the Kiwanis club meeting and dinner on Monday was Burdette Moody, secretary of the Boulder Dam project, who spoke on "Facts and Figures of the Dam Project."

Dr. E. L. Wemple, program chairman of the day announced two vocal solos by Mrs. Imogene Smith who was accompanied by Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald who also gave two instrumental selections. The meeting took place at the Oakmont Country club.

RADIO INSTRUCTION
A society for the purpose of disseminating instruction in Radio communication is being organized in South America and may use equipment and reading matter from this country.

TAX LAW HIT BY FEDERAL OFFICIAL

Mellon's Aid Declares That Success Is Penalized by System In Vogue

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, June 15.—Describing the revenue act of 1924 as discriminatory, productive of wasteful taxation and economically unsound, Garrard B. Winston, under-secretary of the treasury, today advocated complete revision of the nation's tax system.

Winston's observations and recommendations made in an address before the convention of National Association of Credit Men were understood to have the approval of his chief—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"No system of taxation which forces business into tortuous and unnatural channels can continue as the permanent policy of this country," Winston said.

"We want a highway of taxation which makes it cheaper and quicker for the business man to go straight through to success, rather than take the long way around in the effort to avoid the government's toll of excessive taxes."

Penalizes Success

"We have become the greatest nation in the world only because we have given energy and ability free play; and any system of taxation which discourages initiative and penalizes success cannot be the right policy for America." Winston pleaded for repeal of the federal inheritance tax. He said that the economically unsound basis of sur-taxes is responsible for a vast loss to accumulated wealth.

Repeatedly Congress has refused to remedy the abuse of tax exempt securities, according to Winston.

"Today there are in existence over $13,000,000,000 of tax exempt securities. Before a constitutional amendment could be effective the amount would be over $15,000,000,000," Winston said.

"It would take a long time to cut down such a block of securities by their payment at maturity."

Hard On Business

"Under our complicated dual governments the means of tax avoidance available to the rich are so many that to try to meet them all by statute would simply put business in a straitjacket and render it unable to move."

"We, encouraged by our excessive tax rates and unproductive investment of capital, discouraged business. Under these rates industry cannot function normally; it is forced into wasteful channels. Excessive rates cost the taxpayer $2; the government gets one and the other is thrown away."

Cut Tax Rates

"If, however, we cut down these tax rates to a reasonable figure, the high differential of a tax-exempt over a taxable investment is brought within proper limits, and funds seek normal investment," he declared.

Winston declared that in many cases inheritance taxes cost government to ascertain than the government collects. He added that the long-term effect of a capital levy which is the principal characteristic of inheritance taxes is "ultimately to destroy values and initiative, and thus decrease wealth in the hands of the taxpayer available for subsequent taxation."

Offers Landlady Drink, Kills Her On Refusal

FORT DODGE, Iowa, June 15.—Because Mrs. Richard Elliott, 35, his landlady, refused to take a drink with him, Carl Litchfield, 41, a roomer at the Elliott home, shot and fatally wounded the woman and then killed himself. Mrs. Elliott died several hours later. Police said Litchfield had been on a big drinking spree for several days.

Twenty-First Year of Successful Osteopathy

OSTEOPATHY adds years to your life and life to your years.

SUREST path to health is the osteo-path.

TRY it once and learn why. In our offices we have three of the marvelous McManis mechanical tables.

EVEN the autumn of your life can be lengthened into a long and glorious Indian Summer.

OUR home treatment plan will appeal to you. We bring folding portable tables.

PAINSTAKING Thoroughness How much can we do for the patient, not how little, is our motto.

AN ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure. Bring the children.

TREATMENTS are never rough, seldom severe—always soothing. Take a treatment and feel well. Take a course of treatments and BE WELL.

HEALTH is and should be considered of sufficient importance that the family budget provides an allowance for it as it does for rent, automobile upkeep, etc.

YOU have probably made up your mind to try osteopathy sometime, perhaps tomorrow or next month. Why not now?

In Osteopathy you do not forfeit in one organ what you gain in another. You do not ruin the stomach to get the liver to work.

You do not paralyze the entire nervous system to stop a headache.

You do not risk losing all your teeth by salivation to cure malaria.

You get well all over by getting every muscle relaxed, every ligament made pliable, every joint freely movable and every bone and other structure in its proper adjustment so that there is no interruption to the flow of the vital fluids and forces of the body. Let us talk it over at—

BARTHELMESS IN ROLE AS NURSE

Portrayal of Young Husband
Deserted By Wife Gives Rare Opportunity

In none of the roles portrayed by Richard Barthelmess has he appeared to better advantage than in "New Toys," now showing at the Cosmo theatre, South Brand boulevard and Windsor road. In the part of a young husband deserted by his wife and left to care for a tiny baby he has a chance to use his initiative and individuality and he takes the opportunity to do so in a manner that makes these scenes unusually realistic, attracting the sympathy of the spectators to a rare degree.

Incidentally "New Toys" serves to introduce Mary Hay (Mrs. Barthelmess) as a leading woman of the celluloid. She has been on the speaking stage since her marriage. This picture concludes tomorrow night.

Ben Turpin also appears, his vehicle being "Three Foolish Weeks." Tonight is "Country Store Nite." This feature is growing in popularity every week.

Work Night And Day To Prepare Theatre

A crew of 100 carpenters, decorators and other artisans is working day and night to complete the new Bard theatre in Pasadena which is scheduled to open Tuesday evening, June 23. The advance sale of seats at Hunter & Williams' store, 49 East Colorado street, bids fair to bring an overflowing house on the opening night which will be a gala event. Many big stars of stage and screen and other celebrities will be there.

The picture studios will send over a battery of gigantic studio lights to enliven Colorado street in the vicinity of the theatre and thousands of people will be in line of the cameras that will take pictures of the passing crowds which will be shown on following nights at the theatre. After the opening performance the shows will run continuously from 2 until 11 o'clock daily at prices to fit every purse. A fine orchestra under the direction of Leon Strachan, well-known West Coast conductor, will enhance the big vaudeville and picture program.

Proposed Bill to Aid Naval Promotions

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur received a tentative draft of legislation designed to improve methods of promotion and retirement in the navy. The bill was drawn by Representative Britton of Illinois, after conferences with a number of ranking officers of the navy. One of the purposes of the proposed law is to "weed out" officers who have outlived their usefulness and to introduce "young blood" into the ranks of the navy's high-commissioned personnel.

We Sponsor the Memorial Hall Bond Election June 16, 1923

—BECAUSE—

- 1.—Our soldiers and sailors—the men and women who offered and gave their lives in all America's wars—are worthy the modest memorial proposed.
- 2.—The hall will provide a center and school for patriotism, an efficient aid to the children's schools, which we earnestly support. It will provide a home for any and all service organizations desiring to use it. At present almost all such societies meet here, there, and anywhere they can, rent and overhead holding down their membership and funds needed for civic and patriotic endeavors.
- 3.—Glendale is one of the very few cities similar in size and ambition which has not erected an adequate token of appreciation to its veterans.
- 4.—The memorial—neither ornate nor luxurious but substantial and serviceable—will be built, owned and controlled by the city and located where city authorities may determine.
- 5.—The American Legion, true to its promise, is turning in the site voted them two years ago to be used or sold as may be deemed best. The Patriotic and Memorial Hall association, if made custodian of the memorial, plans to maintain and care for it.
- 6.—The cost is ridiculously small in proportion to the great benefits to be derived from this great civic asset. To the average taxpayer—less than "a pint of ice cream per year."
- 7.—Because we know the people did not forget their sons and daughters during the trying days of war and steadfastly believe they will not forget them now.

IN FLANDERS FIELD
LIEUT.-COL. JOHN McRAE, M. C.
In Flanders fields the poppies grow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead; short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders field.
Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

THY FAITH WE KEPT
By JOHN F. COHEE
Sleep! Sleep! ye heroes where the poppies blow.
A greater day is dawning, and the light
Of iron-shod autocracy, the blight
Of earth throughout all time, is burning low.
Sleep! Sleep! ye fought the tyrant, blow for blow.
Ye met his mailed fist in all its might,
Ye flinched not, braves, and, dying for the right,
Ye live in memory and the after-glow
Of the red fires of war shows forth your works.
Heroes, in Flanders fields, 'twas not in vain
Thy Faith we kept; for by thy Torch we see
A better world, wherein no Shadow lurks
To hide the Beast. Sleep!
Heroes; through your pain
Ye made all peoples and all nations free.

Much Soup

Reginald Denny fails to get by first course in "I'll Show You the Town" at Glendale Theatre.

If Reginald Denny isn't soup-sick it isn't his fault.

Just how many plates of soup Denny drank during the filming of his latest release, "I'll Show You the Town," the Universal feature now being shown at the Glendale Theatre, will never be known.

In the production, adapted from Elmer Davis' popular novel of the same name, Denny, who plays the role of an unromantic college professor, is the unfortunate host as a progressive dinner party at which soup was the only food-stuff served.

This unusual situation in "I'll Show You the Town," is brought about in this manner: Denny had engaged himself on a certain evening to act as the guide and escort to three beautiful women. He was going to entertain them together, yet separately, neither of the women to be aware of the others' existence. All of the women wished to dine at the famous "Hanging Gardens cafe" which placed Denny in a strange dilemma.

Plenty of Soup

Just how to dine with three different persons at the same time, though each separately is no easy matter for anyone. Denny, however, resorted to an unique plan. He had himself paced every five minutes. So he went from one woman to another, spending less than four minutes with each, which did not give him time to finish his first course—soup. As he left each escort and his unfinished soup, the waiter took the soup and kept it warm for him. He had a full course dinner of soup and nothing else.

Del Monte Is Seeking Coming Realty Meeting

It is learned that Del Monte is going to put in a bid for the 1923 state convention of the California Real Estate association. Boards that are planning to entertain the state host are also reported to be getting in readiness to submit their invitations.

PAID $5 TO SEE FILM'S PREMIERE

Gloria Swanson's Portrayal
Of 'Madame Sans Gene'
Drew Big Crowds

At the Gateway theatre again today and tomorrow will be shown the first motion picture ever to play on Broadway at $5 a seat—that's the reputation "Madame Sans Gene," hailed as Gloria Swanson's cinemasterpiece, made for itself at its opening performance in New York. Moreover, the theatre was packed to the rafters for the occasion, with hundreds of unsuccessful applicants for seats and a crowd of several thousands giving the police a tussle outside the theatre in their efforts to get into the place and also to catch a glimpse of Miss Swanson and her French nobleman-husband, the Marquis de la Palaise, de la Coudraye.

Charles de Roche, the Pharaoh of Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments," heads the cast playing in support of Miss Swanson. The picture was directed by Leonce Perret from Forrest Hal-sey's adaptation of the stage play

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, June 15.—Pietro Romero has been selected chairman of the reception committee for the state convention of Druids which opens here today, with a score of other members of the Burbank grove to aid him. W. S. Furman is chairman of the executive committee.

The drill team of the recently instituted lodge of Moose has been invited to assist in the institution of a new lodge at Ventura, where there will be a charter membership of seventy-eight.

Plans for construction of the proposed Women's clubhouse to be erected here are progressing, and twenty men have volunteered to work on the structure on Sunday, June 21. A dance to be held early in July will be the first event in the new building.

Walter H. Long, formerly of Los Angeles, has become affiliated with the firm of Graham & Haefner, where he will have charge of the insurance department.

W. R. West, Burbank food chemist, has completed a method by which he produces various foods with a carrot base, including bread, flour, breakfast food and meal. He plans to perfect the plan and put them on the market.

league of the Burbank High school were honor guests at a dinner held at Brookside park, Pasadena. Laura Redden is retiring president and Margaret Sipple, retiring vice-president.

Approximately $1500 has been subscribed by Burbank residents toward the $150,000 advertising fund of the Greater San Fernando Valley association, and $10,000 more has been promised, according to a report by Harry Kennedy, in charge of the campaign here.

Two highway bandits held up and robbed C. W. Van Meter, 167 Ash street, of $84 in cash and the key to his automobile. Van Meter, who is employed in Los Angeles, was returning to his home here shortly after 2 o'clock in the morning. Near Lake street and Alameda avenue two men in a small car drove up to him and at the point of a gun ordered him to stop. Both were masked.

Rev. and Mrs. Austin have left Burbank for the San Bernardino mountains where they will remain until October. Rev. Mr. Austin will have charge of the work of the community church there which was organized in 1923. The work covers the valley around Big Bear lake and is undenominational. During his absence Rev. G. M. Morrison of Pasadena will have charge of Congregational services in Burbank.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, June 15.—The regular meeting of the Tujunga Women's club was held Thursday afternoon. After the regular routine of business and reports by different committees, Mrs. L. May Dean gave a short talk on "Psychology of Color." Mrs. Augustus Adams favored the audience with selections on the piano.

The Service club of Tujunga and Sunland has been looking after cases of need, providing comfort and cheer where needed, continuously since its organization prior to the holidays. It has been decided to have the building open city park purposes have stopped because of the refusal of the city board of trustees to pay taxes and street assessments in addition to $26,000 in cash for the property. License taxes of from $240 to $360 per year for laundries and dry cleaning establishments and of $1000 for ice factories and distributors are being considered by the Burbank Board of Trustees.

The Southern California Edison Co. is installing three 1000-kilowatt transformers at the local plant, costing $15,000, as a reserve in the event the present set of transformers break down.

Twenty-six medals have been awarded by the Burbank Rotary club for athletic honors at the John Muir school.

the first Saturday afternoon of the month during the summer. Contributions to the funds have been made by the different organizations of the valley which will enable the Service club to carry on the work during the summer. Mrs. Lynch, who has devoted a great amount of time on the visiting committee, has been obliged to resign. Mrs. Lillian Wheeler succeeds her as a member of the visiting committee. Any cases requiring attention may be reported to Mrs. Irwin Farr, corner Michigan and Summit streets, or Mrs. Lillian Wheeler, 148 South Monte Vista boulevard.

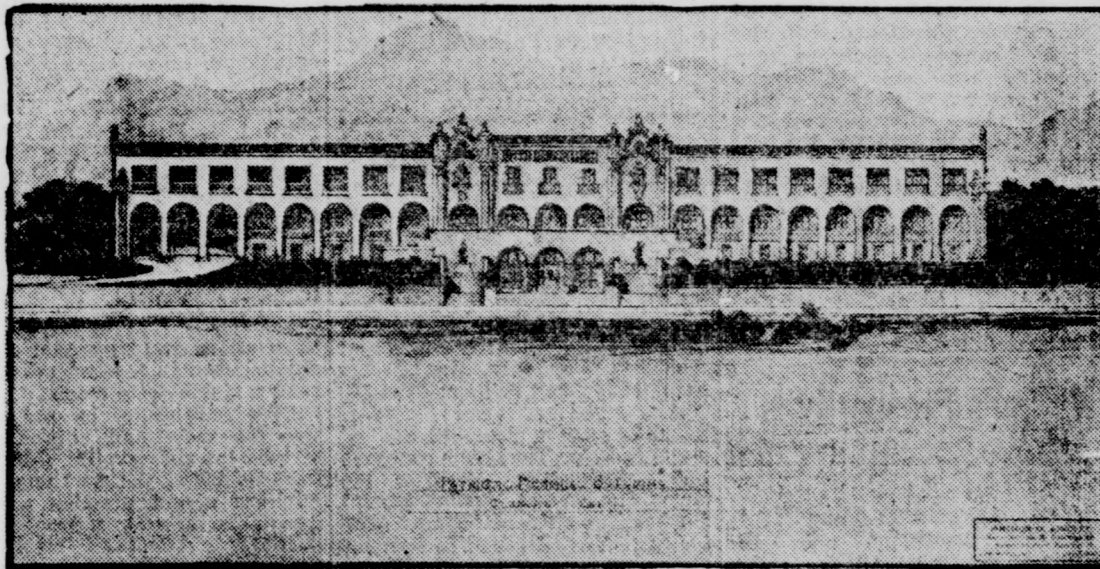

A number of residents of Tujunga have applied for articles of incorporation for the purpose of establishing a laundry in Tujunga under the firm name of Tujunga Laundry, of which E. L. Sweet is named as president; John Russell, first vice-president; Mrs. Bertha Morgan, second vice-president and assistant secretary; Mrs. Laura Lee Sweet, secretary-treasurer. These officers, with the addition of Theodore Sweet, will comprise the board of directors.

The Tujunga Ice Co. has found it necessary to enlarge its building, to add a new engine and a new pump, with other necessary equipment, to increase the efficiency of the plant.

Pearls painted to match the color of the dress are seen in Paris.

We Sponsor the Memorial Hall Bond Election, June 16, 1923,

BECAUSE:

1. Our soldiers and sailors—the men and women who offered and gave their lives in all America's wars—are worthy the modest memorial proposed.
2. The hall will provide a center and school for patriotism—an efficient aid to the children's schools, which we earnestly support. It will provide a home for any and all service organizations desiring to use it. At present almost all such societies meet here, there and anywhere they can, rent and overhead holding down their membership and consuming the funds needed for civic and patriotic endeavors.
3. Glendale is one of the very few cities similar in size and ambition which has not erected an adequate token of appreciation to its veterans.
4. The memorial, neither ornate nor luxurious, but substantial and serviceable, will be built, owned and controlled by the city and located where city authorities may determine.
5. The American Legion, true to its promise, is turning in the site voted them two years ago to be used or sold as may be deemed best. The Patriotic and Memorial Hall association, if made custodian of the memorial, plans to maintain and care for it.
6. The cost is ridiculously small in proportion to the great benefits to be derived from this great civic asset. To the average taxpayer less than "a pint of ice cream per year."
7. Because we know the people did not forget their sons and daughters during the trying days of war and steadfastly believe they will not forget them now.

BREADS

"I don't know why I should be fat; I don't eat any white bread; only whole wheat or gluten." "It's not what I eat that makes me fat. I am just naturally fat. Why I never touch bread unless it's toasted, and I never eat potatoes!"

I have heard these two remarks quite frequently. Haven't you made 'em yourself? I'm sorry to disillusion you but breads are breads and all of them (with the exception of corn bread and the dried breads) have practically the same caloric value, weight for weight, (approximately 75 calories to the ounce). Therefore one bread is just as fattening as another, for it is those little impurities, the calories, that make the curves accumulate.

Corn bread, on account of the higher content of fat in the corn meal, is counted about 100 calories to the ounce; and dried breads, such as the Swedish health breads, and Rye Crisp (those plate-sized, dried, flat cakes made of rye flour), count around 115 calories to the ounce, because they have practically no water. One of the disks I weighed registered four ounces, so it was approximately 460 calories.

These health breads are wholesome breads if they are not eaten in excess, and are very thoroughly masticated. Because they are hard they are good for the teeth, and because the bran is included they help combat constipation.

Gluten bread is made from wheat which has been washed free of most of the starch, leaving the gluten or protein part of the meal. But protein itself can be converted into fat, for in the process of digestion and assimilation, fully half of the protein molecules are released as sugar (Lusk).

Gluten bread is advised in diabetes, but it is not necessary to spend the extra money for it for reducing purposes.

In bread making quantities, rye is more like wheat than any other grain and similar in its qualities. Toast is bread. Toasting dextrizes it, and the formation of dextrin is the first step in the process of digestion of starch, so toast, then, is more easily digested. Toast and hard breads give exercise to the teeth, so that they have that advantage as well as being more easily digested.

This last point has to be thought of for those with impaired digestion. Bread that is not so thoroughly baked as it should be, is, of course, very much improved from all points when toasted.

Last week in our article on bread, I told you that the whole wheat bread is superior to the white bread because of its better grade protein and higher content of mineral elements and vitamins and roughage. Sherman states that the body absorbs from a pound of whole wheat bread at least twice as much phosphorus, iron and calcium, as from a pound of white bread. But this does not mean that whole wheat bread is a perfect or completely balanced food, because no grain protein is a complete protein and so will not sustain health. The grains are also too low in fat and growth and anti-scurbutic vitamins, for a complete food. (There is no one food-stuff that is complete. Milk comes nearest to answering this description.)

All of the grains rank about the same as far as the vitamins protein and mineral elements are concerned. Oatmeal has a little higher content of protein and fat and corn has a little higher content of fat. Supplemental, however, with milk, fresh vegetables and fruits, all grains are very valuable foods.

Wed in Tujunga

The marriage of Miss Amie Miller of 116 East Cypress street and Thomas B. Henry of Los Angeles took place Saturday afternoon, June 13, 1925, at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spear, Los Angeles street, Tujunga. Rev. C. B. Norton, pastor emeritus of First Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives of the couple. Wild cherry blossoms were used to form a background for the ceremony. The bride wore a shell pink crepe de chine dress with picture hat and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Fred Spear, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore blue crepe de chine. Gilmore Henry, brother of Mr. Henry, served as best man. Katherine and Joan Spear, nieces of the bride, dressed in tan organdy dresses, were flower girls. After the ceremony, buffet refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Henry left for a trip to San Francisco, and on their return will reside at 116 East Cypress street. Mrs. Henry is the daughter of Mrs. George Peck and is an employee of the First National bank. She attended the local schools. Mr. Henry is the son of Mrs. Henry of Los Angeles and is employed by the Pacific Telephone Co. in Los Angeles.

Informal Affairs

Mrs. J. B. Wagon of 523 North Jackson street entertained recently with a birthday dinner party for her mother, Mrs. Lucie A. Wagon, who celebrated her seventy-fourth anniversary. Guests were: Mesdames C. Sless and J. H. Gallagher and Charles D. De Wolf of Pasadena. Mrs. Wagon entertained with a luncheon Wednesday, given for Mesdames Ernestine Loudon and Nita Grimes, teachers at the Doran school. Mrs. Grimes and Mrs. Loudon are teachers of Mrs. Wagon's two children, Jack and Lucie. Favours were corsage bouquets of Cecile Brunner roses, made by the children, with handkerchiefs as favours.

Fine Arts Group

Work of the fine arts department of the Tuesday Afternoon club was finished for the year Saturday afternoon, when members were guests at the home of the curator, Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, 202 West Doran street. Collections of reproductions of work by California artists and book cover designs were finished. Later a picnic luncheon was served. There were present John W. Cotton, instructor; Mesdames Norman Hunt, H. S. Robinson, C. W. Houston, R. W. Meeker, Mabel Franklin Ocker, W. L. Jencks, Donald Baxter, Caroline Goodwin, J. S. Armstrong, Roy A. Ballagh and Dr. Caroline Paine.

Old Friends Meet

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Morgan and son Eric of 1125 South Central avenue entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Seaman of Middletown, O., Sunday at a matinee party in Hollywood, followed by dinner at the Morgan home. Mr. and Mrs. Seaman are former residents of Glendale, who came west with the Shriners, and are enjoying a visit with their mother, Mrs. William Harvey of Los Feliz road, and greeting their many old-time friends.

Close Year's Work

Congregational women will suspend activity with the all-day meeting Thursday at the church. The Women's Auxiliary, of which Mrs. H. Montague Porter is president, will have an executive session and general meeting at 10:30 and 11 o'clock in the morning. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock. At 1:45 o'clock there will be a missionary program, presided over by Mrs. Levi Chubbuck. An Oriental pageant will be presented.

Joint Hostesses

Mesdames A. L. Bryant and Max Lynn Green will be joint hostesses Friday at a luncheon and afternoon program, entertaining members of the Drama department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and a small group of other guests. Luncheon will be at 1 o'clock at the Bryant home, 534 North Maryland avenue. The program will be presented in the garden of the Green home, just next door, 528 North Maryland avenue.

Addresses Girls

R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of community service, will be speaker tonight at the meeting of the Girls Friendly society. St. Mark's branch at Guild hall. Mr. Tucker will speak on the subject "Our Obligation to the Community as a Girls' Club." Mr. and Mrs. Tucker will be guests at the dinner, served at 6:30 o'clock. Miss Cynthia Terry will give a reading.

Mrs. Toll Guest

The annual luncheon of the Mutual Benefit Reading circle Wednesday in Patterson park, will stand out among similar events of the past three years, because Mrs. Charles H. Toll, founder, is to be the honored guest. Other special guests will be Richardson D. White, superintendent of the city schools; Mrs. White; Mrs. George U. Moyse, vice principal of Glendale Union High school; Mrs. A. Barton, past chairman of the circle; Mrs. Archibald, of South Pasadena, formerly chairman of the reading circle work for First district, P. T. A.; Mrs. J. W. Mair, chairman of the Grand View Reading circle. Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman of the Mutual Reading circle, will preside. She will introduce Mrs. C. F. Rathbone as mistress of ceremonies. Several unique features will be enjoyed by those attending. Luncheon is to be served at 12 o'clock.

Receive at Club

Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, chairman, and other members of the calling committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club, are arranging an informal reception for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the clubhouse for women who have become members of the club during the past year. Curators of club departments for next year, will assist in receiving. A program of music and readings will entertain. The affair is planned to give the new members opportunity to become acquainted with each other and with the women who are in charge of the various units of the club organizations.

Methodist Women

The annual executive board meeting of the Home Missionary society of First Methodist Episcopal church, will be held all day tomorrow, beginning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. S. C. Wheeler, 600 Wing street. Annual reports of the organization will be made. The annual convention of Missionary societies of Southern California conference will be held June 30 at Asbury Methodist church, Los Angeles, and members of the board are preparing their reports to present at that time.

Shrine Meeting

Mrs. Libbie Cutting presided over the short business meeting Saturday night of Omar Shrine, at the Masonic temple. Following the meeting cards were played. The Shrine will hold a short session on the next meeting date, because of the picnic outing of Glen Eyrle chapter, O. E. S.

Lodge Initiates

Initiation of a class of candidates will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the meeting of Glendale Rebekah Lodge, No. 257, Mrs. Viola Ertel, noble grand, directing.

Outing in Park

Members of Electa auxiliary will meet Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at Masonic temple, 232 South Brand boulevard, and go from there to Brookside park, Pasadena for a picnic. Mrs. Freda M. Augustine, president, will direct a business meeting. Hostesses will be Mesdames Mary Wolse, Lura Rodgers, Dale Pettigill, Wilhelmina H. O'Gren, Blanche Berg and Freda M. Augustine. Those planning to attend are requested to take their own table service. Work on tents for the Old People's Home near Pasadena, will occupy part of the day.

Leave for North

Misses Inez Harrison of Glendale; Louise Huston of Los Angeles; and Mildred Elliott, to-day by automobile for Berkeley. Miss Elliott will join her brother and together they will go to Bronson, Iowa, to make their home. Misses Harrison and Huston will motor to Asilomar to attend the Y. W. C. A. conference, which opens Friday.

PROTECT YOUR HANDS

Don't wear out the youth and good looks of your hands by working with them unprotected. Again and again I see very young girls on the streets and in cars with hands like those of middle-aged women. It is particularly sad to see a young girl who has already worked all the youth out of her hands, especially so when it is avoidable in nine cases out of ten.

If you do have housework of the hardest kind protect your hands with gloves. There are so many cheap patented washing arrangements that even laundry work can be done with rubber gloves on. If you have to do some rubbing by hand smear your hands thickly with cream or lard and put on the gloves again so that they soak up the oil as you finish the work. Use rubber gloves or buy long handled scrubbing brushes. Buy pails with an arrangement at the side for wringing the mop; you can mop up an entire house without once putting your hands in water. Dish washing can be done by using long handled string mops and rubber gloves. If you pile the dishes in a wire rack and scald them they'll dry themselves. Protect your hands while sweeping and dusting by wearing loose cotton gloves. Special gloves come for gardening, or old leather or cotton gloves can be worn. If you take care of your car, as so many women do nowadays, protect your hands with leather gloves; and for washing away certain very dirty jobs use rubber ones. Some repair jobs must be done bare handed. In such cases smear your hands first thickly with vaseline.

If you must work bare handed, when you have finished smear your hands with oil or lard before washing them.

Mrs. E. K.—There seems to be a natural tendency with some women to have rough skin on their upper arms. You can help the condition, or possibly overcome it entirely, if you take Turkish baths; or try the slower Don't work out their prettiness with a brush. Of course a full daily bath is essential for such people.

G. L.—You can purchase a medicated cream from your drug-gist or just add flour of sulphur to the cream you ordinarily use.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Brown Bread: Mix together one cup of graham flour and one-half cup of yellow cornmeal. Add one-half teaspoon of the salt and stir in one cup of sour milk in which one level teaspoon of baking soda has been dissolved. If you have no sour milk on hand, use one cup of sweet, cold milk, and one teaspoon of baking powder (mix baking powder with the graham flour). Also add one-third cup of molasses to the mixing bowl and one-half cup of seedless raisins. This dough may be either baked in muffin pans, in a hot oven for twenty-five minutes; or steamed in empty baking powder cans as follows; butter the inside of two baking powder cans and half-fill them with the dough. Tie on covers and weight down the cans in boiling water, in a saucepan, the water coming almost to the can tops. Let the water continue to boil around the cans for between two and three hours.

Pineapple-Tomato Salad: The menu for Saturday's breakfast calls for diced pineapple. Save three-quarters of a cup of the pineapple to make this salad on Sunday. To make one individual portion, put a slice of ripe tomato on a lettuce leaf, and put one tablespoon of the following mixture on top of the tomato-dice: Mix together three-fourths of a cup of chopped celery and enough mayonnaise dressing to bind together.

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"I have an idea about that," Hanaud replied. "She told us this story—when? After I had said that we must have the seals broken this afternoon and the rooms thrown open. It is possible that we may come upon something in those rooms which makes it wise for her to divert suspicion upon some other woman in the house. Jeanne Baudin, or even Mademoiselle Harlowe's maid Francine Rollard."

"But not Mademoiselle Betty," Jim interposed quickly.

"No, no!" Hanaud returned with a wave of his hand. "The clock upon the marquetry cabinet settled that. Mademoiselle Betty is out of the affair. Well, this afternoon we shall see. Meanwhile, my friend, you will be late for your luncheon."

Hanaud rose from the bench, and with a last look at the magical mountain, that outpost of France, they turned towards the city.

Jim Frobisher looked down upon tiny squares green with vines and the steep gaily-patterned roofs of ancient houses.

About him the fine tapering spires leaped high like lances from the slates of its many churches. A little to the south and a quarter of a mile away across the roof tops he saw the long ridge of a big house and the smoke rising from a chimney stack or two and behind it the tops of tall trees which rippled and shook the sunlight from their leaves.

"The Maison Grenelle!" he said. There was no answer, not even the slightest movement at his side.

"Isn't it?" he asked and he turned.

Hanaud had not even heard him. He was gazing also toward the Maison Grenelle with the queerest look upon his face; a look with which Jim was familiar in some sort of association, but which for a moment or two he could not define. It was not an expression of amazement. On the other hand interest was too weak a word. Suddenly Jim Frobisher understood and comprehended.

"What is it that you are looking at?" asked Jim in perplexity and then with a touch of importance. "You see something, I'm sure."

Hanaud heard his companion at last. His face changed in a moment, lost its rather savage vigilance, and became the face of a buffoon.

"Of course I see something. Always I see something. Am I not Hanaud? Ah, my friend, the responsibility of being Hanaud! Aren't you fortunate to be with me? Pity me! For the Hanauds must see something everywhere—even when there is nothing to see. Come!"

He hustled out of the sunlight on that high platform into the dark turret of the staircase. The two men descended the steps and came out again into the semicircle of the Place d'Armes.

"Well!" said Hanaud and then "Yes," as though he had some little thing to say and was not quite sure whether he would say it. Then he compromised. "You shall take a Vermouth with me before you go to your luncheon," he said.

"I should be late if I did," Frobisher replied.

Hanaud waved the objection aside with a shake of his outstretched forefinger.

"You have plenty of time, Monsieur. You shall take a Vermouth with me, and you will still reach the Maison Grenelle before Mademoiselle Harlowe. I say that, Hanaud," he said superbly, and Jim laughed and consented.

"I shall plead your vanity as my excuse when I find her and Ann Upcott half through their meal."

A café stands at the corner of the street of Liberty and Place d'Armes, with two or three little tables set out on the pavement beneath an awning. They sat down at one of them, and over the Vermouth, Hanaud was once more upon the brink of some recommendation or statement.

"You see—" he began and then once more ran away. "So you have been five times upon the top of the Mont Blanc!" he said.

"From Chamoni?"

"Once," Jim replied. "Once from the Col du Geant by the Brenva glacier. Once by the Domograte. Once from the Brouillard glacier. And the last time by the Mont Mandit."

Hanaud listened with genuine friendliness and said:

"You tell me things which are interesting and very new to me," he said warmly. "I am grateful, Monsieur."

"On the other hand," Jim answered dryly, "you, Monsieur, tell me very little. Even what you brought me to this café to say, you are going to keep to yourself. But for my part I shall not be so churlish. I am going to tell you what I think."

"Yes?"

"I think we have missed the way."

"Oh?"

Hanaud selected a cigarette from his bundle in its bright blue wrapping.

"You will perhaps think me presumptuous in saying so."

"Not the least little bit in the world," Hanaud replied seriously. "We of the police are liable in searching widely to overlook the truth under our noses. That is our danger. Another angle of view—there is nothing more precious. I am all attention."

Jim Frobisher drew his chair closer to the round table of iron and leaned his elbows upon it.

"I think there is one question in particular which we must answer if we are to discover whether Mrs. Harlowe was murdered, and if so by whom."

Hanaud nodded.

"I agree," he said slowly. "But I wonder whether we have the same question in our minds."

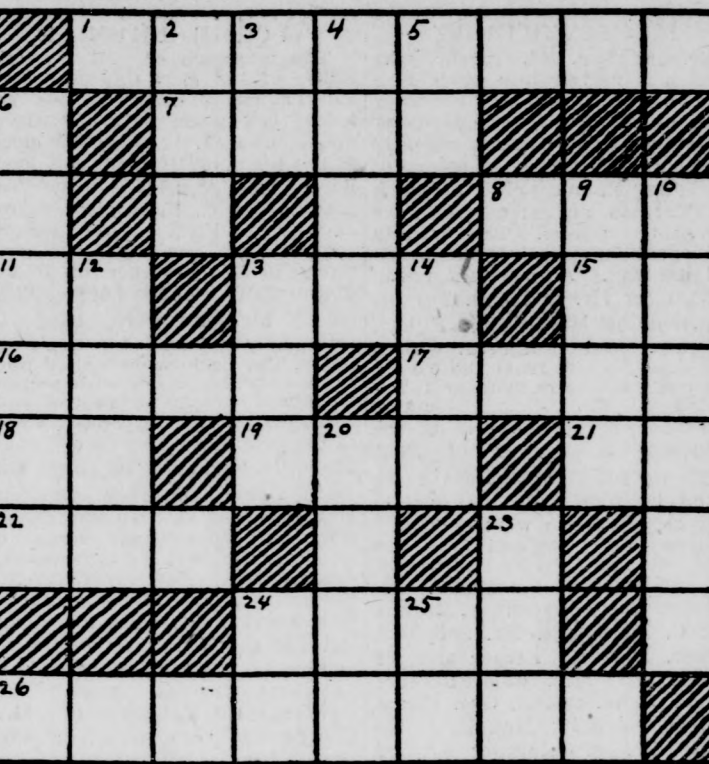

"It is a question which we have neglected. It is this—Who put back the professor's treatise on Sporanthus in its place upon the bookshelf in the library between midnight yesterday and this morning?"

Hanaud struck another of his abominable matches, and held it in the shelter of his palm until the flame shone. He lit his cigarette and took a few puffs at it.

"No doubt that question is important," he admitted, although in rather an off-hand way. "But it is not mine. No. I think that is another more important still. I think if we could know way the door of the treasure room, which had been locked since Simon Harlowe's death, was unlocked on the

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE
The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black square to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterruptedly.

CHAPTER TWELVE
BREAKING OF THE SEALS

A few minutes later Jim Frobisher had to admit that Hanaud guessed very luckily. He would not allow that it was more than a guess. Monsieur Hanaud might be a thorough little Mr. Know-All; but no insight, however brilliant, could inform him of so accidental a circumstance. But there the fact was. Frobisher did arrive at the Maison Grenelle, to his great discomfort, before Betty Harlowe. He had loitered with Hanaud at the café just so that this might not take place. He shrank from being alone with Ann Upcott now that he suspected her.

The most he could hope to do was to conceal the reason of his trouble. The trouble itself in her presence he could not conceal. She made his case the more difficult perhaps by a rather wistful expression of sympathy.

"You are distressed," she said gently. "But surely you need not be any longer. What I said this morning was true. It was half-past ten when that dreadful whisper reached my ears. Betty was a mile away among her friends in a ball-room. Nothing can shake that."

"It is not on her account that I am troubled," he cried, and Ann looked at him with startled eyes.

Betty crossed the court and joined them in the hall before Ann could ask a question; and throughout their luncheon he made conversation upon indifferent subjects with rapidity, if without entertainment.

Fortunately there was no time to spare. They were still indeed smoking their cigarettes over their coffee when Gaston informed them that the commissary of police, with his secretary, was waiting in the library.

"You are distressed," she said gently. "But surely you need not

UNCLE WIGGILY

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE JOLLY ROOSTER.

Not many years ago there lived in a chicken coop, a short distance from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, a jolly rooster. This rooster was so jolly that he was always flapping his wings and crowing to let every one know how happy he was.

When the sun rose in the morning the rooster crowed and awakened all the hens and every one else within the sound of his call. Even if the sun didn't shine and the rain was falling, still the rooster crowed loudly.

"For," he said, "perhaps when the sun, behind the clouds, hears my glad voice, he will shine. Well, sometimes the sun came out and again he didn't."

And if a hen laid an egg the rooster crowed as if he had done it himself, and when little chickens were hatched out of the eggs—my! my! You should have heard the jolly rooster then! He clapped his wings, flew to the top-most rail of the fence and crowed so loudly that he rattled the tin pans in Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzz's kitchen.

"What is going on out there?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who was just twinkling his pink nose at his new wife to bid her good-bye, as he was about to hop away to seek an adventure. "Who knocked the dishes about, Nurse Jane?"

"It was the loud crow of the jolly rooster," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"I must speak to him about making so much fuss," said Uncle Wiggily. "It is all very well to be jolly, but others may not like it. I'll tell him to go off in the woods when he wants to crow so loudly."

"But, as it happened, Uncle Wiggily didn't meet the rooster as soon as he expected to. Soon after crowing so hard as to rattle Nurse Jane's pans, the rooster heard about a hen lady, living in a coop some distance away, who had a lot of new little chickens. So he hurried there to crow over them."

Thus it wasn't until he was on his way home, quite late that night, after having searched for without finding, an adventure, that Uncle Wiggily met the jolly rooster, who also was on his way home.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily! How are you," shouted the gentleman chicken, for that was a way he had—always shouting to show how jolly he was. "Glad to see you. For the Fuzzy Fox had followed the bunny gentleman and intended to break in during the night to nibble his ears. But the rooster stayed so late that the Fox didn't have a chance. And when the rooster finally hurried home, he saw the Fox beside the road and nipped the bad chap so hard on the nose with his beak, the jolly rooster did, that the Fox howled and ran off to his den. And if the postage stamp doesn't crawl out of the mail box and go roller skating with the string bean, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the green apples."

BROADWAY WAITS WALKER-GREB GO

Middleweight Title May Be Money-Maker In Hands Of Kearn's Protege

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Now it appears as if Harry Greb should lose his title to Mickey Walker in the Italian Hospital Fund bout he is to receive $60,000 instead of the forty grand he will get if he wins his crown sitting firmly upon his head after the battle.

Wonder if this has anything to do with Mickey Walker's sore toe? Maybe not. But it is a cinch that Jack Kearns, who had nothing to do with the making of this match, expressed his opinion at length and with eloquence to his new meal ticket concerning the welter king's good nature.

What is the middleweight title anyway? It never was a big money maker. Certainly it does not promise rich enough reward to warrant giving everything away but your lodge pin to get a title-holder in the division into the ring with you.

It will be interesting to watch events of the near future take shape. Some folks believe Walker will not meet Greb at all. But this is only guess work. No one knows anything just now—that is, no outsider.

King Solomon does not appear to have made a showing that satisfied local promoters in his battle against Romero Rojas. The writer wonders why they feel this way. This chap Solomon is a heavy weight who moves about like a lightweight, a pretty boxer and a fair hitter. He held up his end with the Chilean and in fact after a knockdown came through to a decision.

There seems to be some mystery about this man from Panama. There are those who say his name is an assumed one, adopted for advertising purposes.

SPORT CHATTER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 15.—His well-manicured hand forced by the fact that he is trying to serve two masters at one and the same time, Jack Kearns is expected to make formal announcement at almost any hour of Jack Dempsey's retirement from affairs of the fist.

The effect of the announcement, which, boxing men today predicted would come within a week, will be to elevate Harry Willis to the heavyweight championship of the New York Athletic commission and simultaneously leave Kearns foot-loose and fancy free to handle the affairs of Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, who has several big shots in the offing.

The commission has left Kearns no other alternative. It has frankly informed him that he cannot operate in this city and state until the Dempsey-Willis situation is cleared up and Jack has every reason to want the operating privilege here.

Not only has Walker contracted to meet Harry Greb for the middleweight title July 2, but must defend his own championship against Dave Shale in the more or less immediate future while the contemplated "shot" at Benny Leonard for September is on the fire and cooking merrily.

If Leonard can be wheeled out of retirement, the business will net Kearns and Walker a quarter of a million. Jack's continued association with Dempsey seems destined to net him nothing whatsoever, or even less.

That Dempsey is out of boxing for good, or at least until further notice, is taken for granted here. That Kearns no longer is his manager except in name only, also seems to be an accepted fact. He apparently has hung on with the idea that Kearns may be of use to him at some subsequent moment, but the needs of the moment are more pressing. The time seems to have arrived for Jack Kearns to lay his cards on the table, face up.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Detroit has a batting trio in the outfield that not only is a holy terror right now to opposing left-hand pitchers, but promises to push the Tigers well up into the first division by July 4.

Wingo is hitting over .410. Heilmann, who may land the batting championship of the American league, is better than .405 and Fothergill is hovering around .350.

Ty Cobb, the Detroit manager-outfielder, is flitting with the .300 mark himself and is likely to go over it at any time. Manush, the other batting outfielder, is over the .330 mark and pretty sure to finish the season higher.

Here are five outfielders who, when they shake their bludgeons at opposing pitchers, make the teeth of their probable victims rattle. Three of them are superior, collectively, to anything in a right-hand way, in the league.

Somebody once said in the presence of Dan Howley of Toronto, that Detroit had been gold-bricked when it took Wingo on. As Howley was the manager who sent Wingo to Detroit, there is an immediate explosion of Canadian verbal shrapnel. "I'll bet he hits 400 before he leaves Detroit," howled Howley. And already he has seen his prediction fulfilled.

Back in 1920, Wingo attracted attention in Atlanta when he began to smash the ball at .292. He made 161 hits in that year. The next year he batted .318, cracking out twenty-five doubles, twenty triples and nine home runs. This interested the scouts, but there was an arrangement between managers whereby he went to the Toronto club of the International league. For Toronto in 1922 he doubled .319, including twenty-nine doubles, ten triples and thirty-four home runs. This made him home-run king of the International.

In 1923, Wingo, still with Toronto, though Detroit had a string on him, batted .352, making twenty-five doubles, eleven triples and twenty home runs. Detroit lifted him at the end of that season and in 1924 he got his first crack at the American league, in which he batted .287.

This year he has fifty hits thus far, because they have given him more work and because he is moving at the pace predicted by Howley. Wingo gives Cobb a tremendous amount of leverage, hitting as he does, because there is no time in a game against a left-handed pitcher that the Tiger manager cannot send in both Wingo and Fothergill either to pinch hit or to play a game through. And with Heilmann, who now and then hits left-handers off their feet, and murders all the Detroiters when he is right, the Detroiters today have the most awe-inspiring right-hand attack in the big show.

The further the race goes, the harder this attack will be to meet and the closer games the Tigers are playing on their eastern jaunt, combined with the very evident they left home, figures them as a sure first division team about July 4. Then they may trot even faster.

Legion Team Defeated By Railway Panthers

The Glendale Legion team failed to connect when hits meant runs and the Los Angeles Railway Panthers won yesterday's game, 8 to 2. The game was played at Third-street and Alameda streets, Los Angeles. Raymond was on the mound for the local crew and was touched for eight hits. Downard hurled for the winners, allowing six hits. Raymond fanned five, while Downard whiffed four. The only extra base bingle was made by Miller, of the winners, who rapped out a double.

Jim Duncan! His name has stood out in the history of American athletics for many years. Thirteen years ago this powerful athlete stepped into the circle of the discus thrower and heaved the discus 156 feet 1-3-8 inches. This mark stood as a world's record against all onslaughts, foreign and domestic. Olympic athletes strove in vain to equal it. The Olympic record today stands almost five feet short of this mark. It is 151 feet 5-1-16 inches. Bud Houser of the University of California put it there in the games at Paris last year.

On April 25 Houser himself went into a track set on smashling that record of Jim's. He achieved his ambition. Track officials gazed amazed when the tape was stretched to measure one of his heaves. He had hurled the missile 156 feet 3-1-4 inches. True, his mark was but 1-7-8 inches beyond that of Duncan's, but when one is hurling a discus, the hammer or the 15-pound shot to a world's record, inches—and fractions—count.

Record Broken
But he reckoned without Glenn Hartranft, Leland Stanford University star. A few days later "Bud" swung into action on the coast and while the same track official once more stepped back stunned the tape showed a heave of just 157 feet 1-5-8 inches. Not a difference of a fraction of an inch here! A difference of almost a foot!

Twice in the span of a few days Jim Duncan stood, for years shattered by the heaves of this younger generation of athletes. Hartranft's mark was made in the Pacific association meet in the municipal stadium at San Francisco. Both his and Houser's marks are official, made under official and properly-sanctioned conditions.

There can be no chance of questioning the marks, as were the times of Charlie Paddock questioned. Officials claimed he made his records with "fast watches."

Hartranft has been rated as one of the greatest athletes in the weight and field events for the last two years. He is admirably built for discus and shot-put events.

FRY'S PHYSICAL FACTS

By PROF. BYRON G. FRY
Health Expert and Champion Bag Fencer of America.

Written for The Evening News
XLVI—Facts About Cancer
A few facts that will perhaps be of interest to sufferers of cancer or people who think they have it or those who are afraid they have it.

The more or less startling theory has recently been put forward by some of the highest medical authorities in England that cancer is largely due to the retention of imperfectly digested food in the body. Sir George Newman, chief medical officer to the ministry of health, hinted in his annual report that it is, and Dr. Henry Bell, one of the most successful physicians in London has been saying so for years.

Dr. Bell contends, against the general opinion of the medical world, that cancer operations are not justified, and that it can not only be cured, but prevented, largely by eating the right kind of food, and so avoiding the clogging of the internal organs, and the fouling of the blood.

He sets forth, in a new book, reasons which have convinced him that operations for cancer are not justifiable, and he claims that cases of cancer, declared to be incurable, have been cured by treatment without operation.

"We are bound," he writes, "to bear in mind the fact that cancer is a self-inflicted disease, and is the direct result of disobedience of the hygienic laws which the Almighty Creator instituted for the guidance of His creatures, but which they have daily ignored and flouted. Let me add, more from the prevalence of gross ignorance of this important factor of disease than from wilful disobedience."

Cereals, fruit and vegetables are, he claims, more nutritious than flesh meat, especially when taken, as far as possible, in their natural, that is, uncooked, condition.

He also recommends the drink-

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Andy Kerr, who assists Glenn Warner in football coaching at Leland Stanford and is now in the east, says that Ernie Nevers is likely to be rated as the greatest back of the 1925 season.

Whether this prophecy is confirmed or not he is already entitled to distinction as one of the leading two sportsmen in the country. Nevers is a pitcher and a good one.

In the annual baseball game against California at Palo Alto, Nevers not only twirled a dazzling game but hit the longest home run ever seen at Stanford.

Very frequently football players are found playing passable baseball on varsity nines, but not so often is a star footballer to be found playing stellar baseball. And still more rarely do you find a football man shining as a pitcher.

Just now Ducky Pond, of Yale, does a great deal of the mound work for the Elis. If he were as fine a pitcher as he is a half-back Yale would stand higher among college nines today than she does.

But one of the best tackles of all time was also one of the best college pitchers of all time—Doc Hillebrand of Princeton. Eddie Mahan of Harvard was not only a dazzling back but a boxman of high merit. Pie Way of Yale was a good tackle but a better pitcher.

Alonso Stagg, the Chicago athletic director, was a great pitcher at Yale and equally great in the backfield and Christy Matheson was better known at Bucknell for his punting and drop-kicking than he was for his pitching; nonetheless he was miles above the average college hurler. The writer seems to recall that Carl Lundgren played football; if so he made no reputation that spread beyond the campus.

Other than those named there seems to be no football star who has been proficient as a pitcher.

But to get back to Andy Kerr. His presence and his line of conversation give rise to thought as to how long it takes to convert an easterner or middle westerner into a native son. Those who have watched the progress of Iowans resident in and about Los Angeles say four years. So Andy has got some time to go yet.

However that may be, he is talking right now like a born and bred son of the golden west. Inspired by the torrid weather into which he ran as soon as he landed in this section, Kerr drew the deadly parallel between the frying east and the amiable climatic conditions of California and then hastened to add that the climate at Palo Alto was the super climate of the state.

Stanford partisans by the way, are feeling pretty gloomy because the Stanford track and field team did not go to the intercollegiate meet at Franklin Field.

The Palo Altans defeated the University of Southern California in a dual meet and the U. S. C. came east and won the I. C. A. A. A. championship. Of course, the fact that one college team defeats another in a dual meet furnishes no ground for belief that it could repeat in a national meet.

Yet Stanford enthusiasts feel that their athletes had it in them to take thirty-six points—which ought to win any meet.

SENATORS CLIMBING

In an orgy of hitting, the Senators outlasted the Browns and won, 9 to 8, stepping along to within a half game of the leading Athletics.

LOCAL CARRIERS SPLIT TWIN BILL

Bush Hurls Both Games For Glendale; Drop First But Win Second

The Glendale Letter Carriers and the Long Beach Postoffice workers remain tied for third place in the Postal league, as the result of splitting a double-header yesterday at the local ball park. The first game went to Long Beach, 4 to 2, while the home team copped the second contest, 16 to 7.

The outstanding feature of yesterday's program was the pitching of Bush for the local mailmen. Bush hurled both games with the exception of the last two men in the last game, and got twenty-one strikeouts, eleven in the first game and ten in the second. Bristol hurled the opening game for the visitors and got nineteen strikeouts. Nearly everybody on the team hurled for Long Beach in the second game, the eighth inning being more or less of a parade, with Glendale runners circling the bases and pitchers walking in and out of the box.

It was in the eighth inning of the second game that the local men went wild on hits and runs, ten men scoring. Love started the wireworks when he rapped out a homer with the bases loaded. Five men were walked that inning by the various Long Beach pitchers.

San Pedro set back the Los Angeles Postoffice crew yesterday at Snyder field, 7 to 3. Coogan hurled for Los Angeles and Smith was on the mound for the harbor carriers, each man getting ten strikeouts.

Kout helped the Los Angeles carriers to defeat the Santa Monica mailmen yesterday when he fanned ten and gathered a home run. The score was 9 to 2. Loakes of the winners collected a triple, with Wheylin of the same team getting a double.

Harold Thompson Wins In Second Round Play

Harold Thompson, youthful Glendale golfer, who is playing in the city tournament at Griffith park, under the Oakland Country club banner, scored a decisive victory in the second round of play over Johnny Mescall of the California Country club, and city champion in 1924. The count was 5 to 4. Thompson is picked by golf experts to make a strong showing in the tournament. Others in the championship fight are W. F. Lampton, Lee Prendergrass, Earl Neltzel, George Wagner, Fuller Thompson, and Allen Moser, medalist.

Thompson, playing at Wilshire links yesterday, against Miller Fishel, pro, played wonderful golf for seventeen holes, and was set for a par 72, when he had trouble with his second shot on the eighteenth hole and took four for a 74.

Seven Varsity Crews Training For Regatta

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 15.—With the newly-arrived Cornell flotilla busily engaged in rigging its shells this morning, the seven varsity crews that will race in the annual intercollegiate regatta here next Monday got down to intensive training today.

The calm was expected to bring out a few time trials this afternoon, Pennsylvania and Washington having been the only eight to attempt this stunt in the high winds and rough waters. The Huskies took much the worst of it with whitecaps and a quartering wind and did 21:10. Pennsylvania rode with the tide in smoother going and did 19:06. Some action is looked for from the Syracuse camp tomorrow, with the arrival of five oarsmen who were detained at college by examinations.

CARDS BEAT PHILS

The poor old Phils finished second once more as Blades and Bell hit successive homers in the sixth and seventh, giving the Cards an 11-to-7 verdict.

GOOZEMAN MEETS TAYLOR TUESDAY

Plenty Of Mitt Slinging Is Promised In Battle At Vernon Arena

Plenty of mitt slinging is on the card for tomorrow night at Vernon. Bud Taylor, who took a hairline decision over Jimmy McLarnin several weeks ago, is matched to meet Ernie Gozeman in the main event of ten rounds or less. This should be a whirlwind of a match, as the two boys are fairly even in hitting ability.

In the semi-windup of six rounds Johnny Murphy, from Bud Taylor's stable, will step out with Billy Vincent. Al Grunan and Dutch Crozier are billed for six rounds in the special spot. Billy Bush and Mike Mitchell are down for four rounds, and Johnny Fiske and Scotty McGlickie will open the show with four rounds of milling.

BASEBALL

Palmer, hurling for the Hawthorne team, allowed only one hit, but it was enough for Inglewood to win, 1-0, yesterday.

Holding the Black and White Tail players to three hits, and fanning twelve enabled Burbank to win, 2 to 0, behind the pitching of Reid.

Lankershim had an easy time with the Crossword Puzzle Sox, getting thirteen hits and as many runs, while the Sox were gathering only six runs.

Glmore Oilers copped the oil league pennant by beating the Union Oilers, 24 to 1. It was the eighth straight win for Glmore.

The Pasadena Merchants, who put a crimp in the Shell Oilers win record, dropped a hard fought game to Irvine, 3 to 1, at Irvine. Reiger hurled for the Merchants.

LOCAL CHOIRS COMPETE IN CONTESTS

Congregational Church Gets Second In Eisteddfod Finals Saturday

Eisteddfod finals closed Saturday night with competitions in choral groups at the Hollywood high school auditorium. A huge crowd witnessed the concluding events.

Successful contestants were announced by judges as follows: Church choirs of not over twenty voices: First, Congregational church of Redlands; second, St. Luke's Episcopal church of Long Beach; third, Pacific Palisades church; fourth, Central Christian church, Glendale.

Church choirs, twenty-five to sixty voices: First, Welsh Presbyterian church of Los Angeles; second, First Congregational church of Glendale.

Choral societies: First, Santa Paula Community chorus; second, Burbank Choral club; third, Southern California Edison Community chorus, Los Angeles district.

Music choruses: First, Welsh Male Chorus of Los Angeles; second, Beverly Hills Male Chorus; third, Pacific Palisades church; fourth, Central Christian church, Glendale.

Church choirs, twenty-five to sixty voices: First, Welsh Presbyterian church of Los Angeles; second, First Congregational church of Glendale.

It was announced this morning by R. Ernest Tucker, that officials of the California Eisteddfod have declared the competition between the Glendale and Redlands community orchestras "no contest" because of a number of technicalities in the rules. The two orchestras will meet a second time at some neutral place, probably Pomona, to decide the final winner.

This meeting will take place before June 27, it was announced. No doubt as to the superiority of the Glendale orchestra was expressed by Mr. Tucker and others who heard the original contest. Redlands was allowed another chance due to several technical transgressions on the part of the Glendale orchestra. It was said.

Two Are To Graduate From Military School

Harold Betz, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Betz of 124 North Kenwood street, and John Vickers Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Crawford of 1319 North Central avenue, will be graduated from Pasadena Military academy tomorrow night at the commencement exercises to be held at the school. There are twelve boys in the class, two of whom are from Glendale. The class will be written by Crawford and will be given at the commencement exercises.

HURT IN CRASH

Don Dougherty, Fresno, was injured shortly before midnight Saturday night when the automobile he was driving skidded in the sand at San Fernando road and Grand View avenue. Dougherty was taken to the Burbank hospital by Bender, where he was treated for a bruised leg. According to Bender, considerable sand covered the street at that point, thrown up in sewer trenching operations.

you say to his age, his height, his appearance?"

Rongetti stammered his answers.

"Do you say he is the man who came then?"

"He looks like him," replied Rongetti.

"Would you say he is the man?" demanded Stewart.

The witness shook his head. Shepherd sat down.

On re-direct examination Rongetti admitted he had accompanied two newspaper reporters to the state's attorney's office where they picked up Assistant State's Attorney Harold Levy and that the four then went to the hotel, where Shepherd was being held and that he, Rongetti, had identified Shepherd as the man who had come to his hospital inquiring about a course in bacteriology, although he insisted that his visitor seemed somewhat slimmer than the defendant.

On re-cross examination, Stewart asked:

"Didn't you tell a Dr. Sawyer that no one—Shepherd nor anyone else—came to you and asked for germs?"

The witness hesitated and finally said he had told everyone else that.

Stewart had the witness admit he could not classify the pathogenic bacteria into their various classifications and subjected the witness to a long technical series of questions to show that the witness was not an expert.

William P. Derrick, Houston, Texas, a contractor, was a witness in the afternoon and testified to meeting Shepherd at Bayview, Texas.

"The last conversation I had with Shepherd was the day he left for Chicago," said Derrick. "I saw him on the station platform. He said, 'Well, if Emma dies I probably will be appointed administrator. I will have to study law to be able to handle it.'"

Isabella Pope was called to the stand in the afternoon. She said she knew Billy all through high school, also knew Shepherd.

Miss Pope, wearing her engagement ring and the diamond which was Billy's mother's, was tense, but thoroughly poised during her testimony. She was not allowed to tell what happened on a trip to Wisconsin made by the Shepherds, Billy and herself.

She told of frequent meetings with Billy, how he took her home from school and of letters passing between them.

"What was the attitude of the Shepherds toward you?" asked Assistant State's Attorney Savage, referring to the Wisconsin trip again.

"Toward the latter end of the trip they were very unpleasant to me."

Miss Pope's testimony was constantly interrupted by objections by Attorney William Scott Stewart for the defense, who told Judge Lynch during one conference a the bar that he was determined to keep from the jury any statement by Miss Pope that the reason for the "unpleasantness" was the fact that Billy had kissed her—and been caught at it by Mrs. Shepherd.

WORLD COURT IS ASSAILED BY WOMAN

Mrs. M. McCormick Walks In Path of Husband In Opposing League

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Following in the footsteps of her husband who was perhaps the most active of the "irreconcilable" group in the senate, Mrs. McCormick is engaged in a campaign to do her utmost to defeat the world court protocol when it comes up for ratification in the senate next December.

The widow of the late senator from Illinois has revealed her plans to some members of the senate and in brief, she hopes to arouse public opinion on the subject so that some of the old fire which animated the opponents of the league of nations will come back again.

Mrs. McCormick's activities have been remarked upon by one or two senators who are in opposition to the court created by the league of nations and from the information received here it would appear that the opponents of the court are afraid the protocol will be ratified if the project is allowed to drift along without public discussion as to its alleged dangers to America.

The Coolidge policy, as understood by the opponents of the court, is to let the matter run along without much debate until December and then let the vote be taken, the theory being that if the public isn't particularly aroused over it, the protocol will be ratified by the necessary two-thirds vote. The Democrats, of course, will present an almost solid front in favor of the court and will not have more than two or three defections.

The Republicans are divided. Many of the senators who are in all other respects pro-Coolidge are embarrassed because they oppose the court protocol and want to go along with the president. Their plan is to propose reservations in the hope that the court protocol will be so amended as to strip it of the features to which they object. If unsuccessful in their fight for reservations, however, these opponents are doubtful whether they should vote against the court protocol or record themselves in favor of the project with the excuse that they favored some court instead of no court at all.

While the advocates of the world court protocol at present have the necessary two thirds, the opposition feels the margin is so narrow that it can be overcome. Hence the activity of such women as Mrs. McCormick. The late senator from Illinois felt very deeply about the world court. Although accused during the Democratic administration of being partisan in his opposition to the league of nations, he soon disproved this by continuing his fight during the republican administration of President Harding and Coolidge.

If he were alive today he would be campaigning from one end of the country to the other in the hope of arousing opinion in opposition to the court. His widow was herself active in the suffrage campaign of several years ago and is an experienced speaker as well as a shrewd strategist on political questions. One of the senators with whom she is reported to have conferred is said to have remarked afterwards that he had rarely heard a more convincing argument.

The friends of the world court have organized throughout the country. Mrs. McCormick hopes to offset this by organization work too. The details of her plan have not been announced but it remains for a woman to revive the old "irreconcilable group," decimated in numbers but capable of a strong fight.

Wife Of Forbes' Trial Witness Gets Divorce

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—Katherine T. Mortimer was today granted a final decree of divorce from Ellis T. Mortimer, chief witness in the trial of Charles R. Forbes, former of the United States veterans' bureau. Mrs. Mortimer charged cruelty, barbarous treatment and indignities.

Hundreds of Missionaries Face Danger

SHANGHAI, June 15.—As a British gunboat and transport were rushing to Kiangtung today to effect their evacuation, anxiety was expressed here as to the safety of 600 missionaries, mostly women and children, summering in the mountains at Kuling, about Kiangtung.

The fears for their safety arose as a result of reports that 6000 coolies employed in carrying supplies up the mountain side were threatening trouble. No report of an outbreak among them, however, had reached here late today.

Edward Johnson, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Co., who is touring the Orient, was halted by soldiers and ruffians in Nanking while en route from Tien Tsin to Shanghai, but escaped and arrived here safely.

Plan Parade to Boost Memorial Hall Bonds

Members of various patriotic orders in Glendale are requested by the Memorial Hall bond issue committee to assemble at Lexington drive and Brand boulevard at 7 o'clock tonight to participate in a parade to boost the bond issue. The parade will be headed by the Glendale Bugle and Drum corps, according to E. E. McWain, and organization members are asked to join. Many automobiles will be needed for the parade, McWain said.

Ask Higher Gas Rate And City Will Protest

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Attorneys for the city of Los Angeles prepared a strenuous fight against plans of gas companies to request the State Railroad commission for higher rates. The companies propose to increase on the grounds that stockholders in their concerns are receiving only 6 per cent on their investments.

Lodi Farmer Fatally Injured In Car Crash

STOCKTON, June 15.—Oswald Kernagel, Lodi farmer, was dead today as the result of an accident yesterday when his automobile was struck by a north-bound traction car at Kettleman crossing, near here. Following the crash the automobile caught fire, and by burning the body before it was rescued.

Lad Hikes Long Trail To Visit Grandmother

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Stirling Comstock, 18-year-old Seattle lad, was on his way to Santa Rosa today to visit his grandmother, after having left Seattle last Monday morning on foot. He admitted he had picked up many rides on his journey, but added he would have hiked the entire distance if necessary.

WINS BEAUTY CONTEST

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., June 15.—For the second time Miss Fay Amphipier today had the title of being California's most beautiful girl. She won that distinction here in Santa Cruz' second annual state-wide beauty pageant.

REALTORS GO TO DETROIT MEETING

Large Delegation From This State Is Assured For National Gathering

More than eighty-five realtors and their wives have reserved passage on the California train to the Detroit convention of the National Association of Real Estate boards.

The special train will be made up at San Francisco, and depart via the Southern Pacific at high noon on June 18.

Complete plans for the trip have been in charge of St. George Holden of San Francisco, vice-president of the California Real Estate association, and who also is chairman for the San Francisco Real Estate board.

Invitations to stop over have been received by the association from Salt Lake City, Denver, Detroit, Milwaukee, and from the officers of the Pacific Northwest Real Estate association assuring the delegates of entertainment at Portland, Seattle and Tacoma.

The San Francisco Real Estate board's glee club consisting of fifteen voices led by Director Eugene Blanchard will sing over the radio at various cities going and returning and will also sing at the convention.

The California delegation at Detroit will consist of approximately 150 Realtors. More than twenty-five boards will be represented, according to State President D. Richard Ainsley, who will address the national convention of state presidents and state secretaries.

Reservations for the special train, and for the California headquarters hotel at Detroit, should be made through the California Real Estate association, or through Chairman Holden.

L. A. EXCHANGE

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Edison common and United States Royalties were the feature traders at the opening session of the week on the Los Angeles stock exchange today. The early trading was almost exclusively in these two stocks, but the oils and mines were fairly active later in the session.

CITRUS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 15.—Thirty-six cars Valencia, two mixed cars, and five cars lemons sold. Valencia market strong on 200s and smaller, easier on 176s and larger. Lemon market lower. Valencia averages ranged $5.25 @ 10.70; lemons, $8.55 @ 10.60.

FLAX REPORT

MINNEAPOLIS, June 15.—Flax clover, $2.67; Soybean, $2.42 1/2 bid; track, $2.67 @ 2.68; arrival, $2.67 @ 2.71.

DULUTH, Minn., June 15.

TAXES FOR STATE

SACRAMENTO, June 15.—The State Board of Equalization today announced that regular revenues of the state government will offset expenditures during the fiscal year beginning July 1, and that it will be unnecessary to levy an ad valorem tax.

The government expenditures for the period, aside from expenses of self-supporting agencies, which are maintained by their own collections, will total approximately $52,000,000, the equalization board stated, and taxes for the year will aggregate $52,352,461.20.

Tax collections from corporations for the fiscal year will aggregate $41,352,461, the board reported, making a gain of $16,724,746 over the preceding year.

Railroad and express companies showed a drop in earnings during 1924, due to drought and foot-and-mouth disease, it was disclosed in the tax statement. Banks and power companies enjoyed a steady gain in business during the year.

Railroad taxes will constitute the largest item in tax collections for the new year, it was announced. Steam roads will pay a total of $12,133,409.40 toward the support of the state government, and electric roads will contribute $3,133,078.84 additional.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 15.—All grains closed sharply lower today. Wheat was off 4 1/2 @ 6 1/2c at the finish; corn, 3 1/4 @ 5 1/2c lower, and oats, 2 1/4 @ 3c lower. General liquidation and stop-loss selling caused the sharp break in wheat prices. The fact the prices here broke faster than at Winnipeg led to some profit-taking and short covering that caused a temporary check, but Liverpool showed increased weakness as the session advanced and the market again turned weak before the close. Provisions closed easier.

MONEY & EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, June 15.—Call money on the floor of the New York stock exchange today ruled at 3 1/4 per cent; high, 3 1/2 per cent; low, 3 1/4 per cent. Time money was quiet. Rates were: Sixty days, 3 1/4 @ 4 per cent; ninety days, 3 1/4 @ 4 per cent; four months, 3 1/4 @ 4 per cent; five months, 3 1/4 @ 4 per cent; six months, 3 1/4 @ 4 per cent. The market for prime mercantile paper was quiet. Call money in London today was 3 1/4 per cent. Sterling exchange was steady, with business in bankers' bills at $4.86 1/2 for demand.

N. Y. WOOL MARKET

NEW YORK, June 15.—Market firm. Domestic fleece GV Ohio, 46 @ 51c; domestic pulled, scoured basis, 75c @ $1.10; domestic Texas, scoured basis, $1.10 @ 1.30; domestic territory staple, scoured basis, $2c @ $1.30.

Kingston, England, recently elected a thirteen-year-old girl as mayoress.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 15.—Stock prices gravitated to lower prices today as the result of a steady outpouring of selling orders for oil and industrial stocks from professional and other sources. After an unsuccessful effort to "turn" the market at the opening, the bears renewed their hammering tactics shortly after the noon period, at which time they were joined by the outside traders taking profits on the oil and motor stocks. Many of the leaders in the morning's rally turned reactionary, even United States Steel returning to its starting point of 116 1/2, down more than a point.

There was sufficient strength in some of the newly-prominent specialties, like Ward Baking "B," Westinghouse Air Brake, Consolidated Gas and Gulf States, to give the market the appearance of speculative shares were receding. There were no developments at the Pan-American annual meeting to account for the heaviness in the stock and Wall street looked for nothing but an amicable adjustment of the "misunderstanding" between Secretary Kellogg and President Calles of Mexico.

The recession in industrial stock prices did not go very far. Most of the oil stock ground as a result of profit-taking, though the situation in the oil industry was improved, if anything, by the shrinkage of 44,000 in daily production in crude oil in Smackover. A number of the distributing companies raised their retail prices at the end of last week.

Ward Baking "B" was the star performer in the specialties group. This stock, which gained 8 points last week, added 7 1/2 points more on a heavy turnover, and sold up to 66 1/2, against its introductory price of 35 a few weeks ago.

Electric Light & Power was a consistent ground gainer, advancing more than 3 points, to 35 1/2. Standard Milling continued to move forward in vigorous fashion and reached a new high at 79. American foreign power, Freeport, Texas, and a few other low-priced specialties continued their forward movement.

Call money was easy at 3 1/4 per cent. Cotton was the strongest of the outside markets, but grain was weak with July wheat down 3c a bushel in Chicago and Kansas City. French francs failed to recover and foreign government bonds reflected the uneasy situation in the exchange markets.

After a brief rally the market turned heavy near the close, and the final prices were at or near the lowest of the day. United States Steel reacted from the first-hour price of 117 1/4 to 116 1/2, hour price of 117 1/4 to 115 1/2; specialty stocks lost from 1 to 3 points; oil stocks failed to rally and railroads remained inactive until the close. Call money unchanged at 3 1/4 per cent.

Sales today, 1,323,700 shares; bonds, $10,213,000.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Half of Northern California's cherry crop was spoiled by rain this year. It is reported by the growers, who have finished their season.

Wright, Alexander and Greeley, a new Pacific coast brokerage house, dealing in bonds and mortgages, are opening fifteen official offices in California cities this month, the firm announced today.

E. J. Milley's Athens well, No. 6, now is drilling at the 6900-foot level, a record for local fields.

Southern California sugar beet growers were pleased today over President Coolidge's decision not to acquiesce in the tariff commission's recommendation for a 25 per cent cut in the sugar duty. This means a normal production of sugar refineries in the southwest, with good prices, because of the anticipated demand on present stocks for canning a bumper fruit crop.

TRADE BALANCE

WASHINGTON, June 15.—America's favorable balance of trade for eleven months ending June 1 was $1,038,000,000 the Department of Commerce announced today. This record for post-war commerce represented exports of $4,540,941,000 and imports of $3,502,941,000 or a total foreign trade of more than $8,000,000,000. The excess of exports over imports for the same period in 1923-24, was $724,600,000, made up of $3,280,000,000 incoming commerce and $4,004,600,000 outgoing.

TUJUNGA NOTES
TUJUNGA, June 15.—The graduation exercises of the Tujuanga school were held Friday evening in the school auditorium, seventeen graduating pupils, Miss Isabella Dadds, eighth grade teacher, made announcement of program. The school orchestra and girls' glee club, which have been trained by Miss Malita Osborn, furnished music. The exercises were largely in the nature of essays prepared by the pupils themselves.

Constance Grant, who had made the highest record during the school year, delivered the valedictory. Edgar Miller, the next class valedictorian, was in the form of a one-act play, portraying a reunion of the class twelve years hence, written by George Thorsen. The class will be given by Ruth Nutsford. Professor Fred Aze, in a short address, presented the class as ready for high school work.

The class consists of the following members: Harry Robert Brook, Constance Amelia Grant, Dorothy Louise Greer, Albert Steven Greive; Edward Oscar Hodnett, Ora Louise Jacob, Ellen Elizabeth Kent, Edgar Watson Miller, Ralph Alvin Myers, Ruth Evelyn Nutsford, Henry William Perry, Alan John Richardson, Gertrude Johanna Sameison, Wallace Edward Schoch, Eldra Edith Sisney, Sybil Verna Stewart, and George Herbert Thorsen.

The list of teachers for the Tujuanga schools for the coming year has been made up with the exception of the kindergarten. Three teachers, Miss Molitz, Miss Jones and Miss Davies, have resigned, the two former to be married during the summer and Miss Davies to teach in high school. Two new teachers are on the force: Miss Mary and Miss Italia, to be in the corps of teachers as follows: Superintendent, Fred W. Axel; social sciences, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, Miss Dadds; arithmetic, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, Miss Heminger; fourth or fifth grade, Miss Fitch; fourth or fifth grade, Miss Middleton; music, Miss Osborn; B-3 grade, Miss Frank; A-2 grade, Miss Schneider; fourth or fifth grade, Miss Peake; A-1 and B-2 grades, Miss Hall; B-1 grade, Mrs. Johnston; Palm street school, Miss Miller; music and hygiene, Miss Wieman.

A number of certificates of perfect attendance were given out by Professor Axel Friday evening. Certificates for perfect attendance have been given at the end of each quarter. The following received perfect attendance certificates for the entire year: Thelma Thorsen, Conrad Reslock, Dorothy Grubb, Henry Schneider, Ralph Nutsford, Kenneth Anderson, William Nutsford, Ruth Halferly, Charles Schneider, Nora Schneider, Robert Branham and Harold Grubb.

The P-T-A. is not intending to drop activities entirely during the summer, but will look after certain features. Mrs. Marion Reynolds will conduct a class in elementary law, beginning the first Wednesday in July, from 2 to 3 o'clock, in the school library room. The hour from 3 to 4, Wednesday afternoons, will be devoted to story-telling by Mrs. Valma Gage. Mrs. Gore is entertaining story tellers, and this will be a real treat to the children. Mrs. Frank, third grade teacher, will hold forth at the school library Wednesday afternoons and thus books will be available for the children during the summer vacation.

The close of the school year was marked by a thrift parade, those pupils in the school having bank accounts taking part. A large number of pupils qualified, and made a fine showing with many original costumes and a number of diminutive floats.

Verdugo City Men To Attend C. C. Meeting
Several prominent Verdugo City men will attend the Glendale Chamber of Commerce dinner at Oakland Country club Wednesday night, June 17, to consider consolidation of all the chambers of commerce in the Glendale, Verdugo and San Marino districts. Those who will attend are: H. N. Fowler, H. A. Baldrige, W. R. Scully, R. E. Edwards, George Hansen and Fred Rieger.

LET CONTRACT FOR UNIT OF HOSPITAL

Construction Work To Start On New Institution On Laurel Street

Financing of the first unit of Physicians' and Surgeons' hospital, to be erected on Laurel street between South Brand boulevard and Central avenue, at a cost of $120,000, has been completed, and a contract has been awarded C. A. Cornell, Glendale, it was announced today by officials of the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital association.

The hospital will be a three-story structure of class A construction, thoroughly modern. Construction will start this week, Cornell said today. When all of the units have been completed, the hospital will occupy four lots, with a Laurel street frontage of 200 feet, 175 feet in depth. The association already owns the lots.

It is purely a co-operative project, in which nearly all physicians and surgeons practicing in Glendale are interested. Dr. H. C. Smith is president and Dr. O. A. Disterich is secretary. Directors include Dr. H. R. Boyer, Dr. O. E. Christ, Dr. D. M. Christ, Dr. J. E. Eckles, Dr. John Anderson and Mrs. M. P. Moberly.

The first unit, which will also be made three stories high, will have a capacity for about seventy beds.

Inspection Tour Made Along Verdugo Road

A survey of ditches, weeds, superfluous poles, street car crossings, grades and outlets through Glendale territory into the Verdugo wash for the comprehensive concrete road and drainage system, planned for La Cresenta Chamber of Commerce and Verdugo City Association of Commerce, was made Friday afternoon by City Engineer Johannes, City Attorney Ray Morrow and P. L. Hatch, manager of the Glendale-Montrose railway; H. N. Fowler, president of the Verdugo City Association of Commerce, and H. D. Johnson, president of the La Cresenta Chamber of Commerce.

The plan is to remove all surplus dirt adjacent to the street car tracks on Montrose avenue east from Pennsylvania avenue to Ocean View, and also to cut down all weeds in the ditches and at the sides of Verdugo road, south from Honolulu avenue to the intersection of Canada boulevard.

Fowler and Johnson appeared before the City Council last Thursday morning and were assured of the hearty co-operation of the council and all of the Glendale city departments, in improving the roads and highways connecting the Cresenta-Canada highway with Glendale.

Pacific company's Atlantic system lines. In 1895 he became general manager of all the Southern Pacific lines with headquarters in San Francisco.

He was made fourth vice-president of the company in 1904 and assistant to the president in the same year.

In Western Union
He made his office in New York where he became chairman of the executive committee and director of the Southern Pacific lines and affiliated companies operating in Arizona, Louisiana and Texas.

Kruttschnitt was also a member of the executive committee of the Western Union Telegraph company and the Erie railroad.

He was in the executive committee of the American Association of Railway Executives.

Kruttschnitt is survived by his widow and four children, three sons and a daughter. They are living at his New York City home on Lexington avenue.

At the Southern Pacific offices it was said burial will probably be held in New Orleans.

Broadcasts His Songs, Buys Radio For Wife
So that his wife may hear his concerts over the radio James Jackson, 323 West Gilbert street, tenor and member of the Great Western quartet, has bought a model 20 Atwater-Kent receiving set from the Glendale Music Co., according to T. P. Miller of that store. The quartet makes a business of broadcasting and has been heard over most of the stations in Southern California.

Living, Offers To Sell Body For Convicts

WASHINGTON, June 15—"Would you be interested in the purchase of the body of a man not yet dead?" This question was asked today by E. E. Dudding, president of the prisoners' relief society, in a letter to the president of Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore. Dudding said he wanted to make a contract to sell his body at death so that the money could be used in his prison reform work.

POWERS RATE OUTLOOK IN CHINA BAD

British Send Another Ship To Hankow After Marines Kill More Rioters

LONDON, June 15.—The foreign powers today looked upon the Chinese situation as "serious." The British foreign office said, and another British warship is being sent to Hankow.

Seven Chinese rioters were killed at Hankow several days ago by British marines and the Chinese government has made an official protest to Great Britain against the incident.

The powers are in complete accord and while there are no plans for immediate intervention, representatives of the powers are in negotiation in Peking, the foreign office said.

Many of the Yunnanese captured in the fall of the city last year were set free, officials said, to be beaten and stoned to death in the streets. Others were drowned in the harbor. One Yunnanese officer was crucified on a telephone pole.

One Yunnanese was saved from the mob by the intervention of British and American sailors outside the French concession.

C. M. Farue, commander of the steamer Farue, addressed this same mob, and an American, Dr. Biddle, aided in the rescue of the Yunnanese.

Chinese Urge Warfare Against Great Britain

all British concessions and the abrogation of all treaties. The strike situation in Shanghai today was unchanged.

Foreign and Chinese delegates in conference here continue deadlock over the thirteen Chinese demands made to the powers in connection with the shooting of the Shanghai students May 30 by foreign settlement police.

Legation Quarter Under Heavy Guard Of Soldiers

PEKING, China, June 15.—The Legation quarter was heavily guarded today, on the inside by Chinese troops and on the outside by foreign guards equipped with machine guns and behind barbed wire entanglements. The students and laborers held a great mass meeting in opposition to foreigners. The general strike scheduled for today was postponed to June 25.

The British legation replied to the Chinese note of Saturday in reference to the killing of Chinese in Hankow by British guards. The note said the British had not violated the "laws of humanity in the Hankow killing."

Direct Capture Of Canton

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The capture of Canton by Cantonese troops was largely due to the direction of the warfare by Russian military advisers, according to dispatches received today by the state department from American officials in China. The Yunnanese were completely routed and all who remained in the city of Canton surrendered to the Cantonese, according to a dispatch received from Consul-General Douglas W. Jenkins. All Americans, as well as their property, were reported safe but the consul-general had not had direct communication with the outgoing missions when his dispatch was sent.

CLAIM TIRE TAKEN
S. L. Williams, 1222 Extra street, Eagle Rock, was arrested by Sergeant Blake and Lauritzen shortly before 6 o'clock Saturday night at Ralph's grocery on a charge of petty larceny. He was accused by W. A. Russell, manager of the grocery, of having taken a cord tire from the store. Williams was released on $100 cash bail.

PLAN TRIP EAST
P. L. Mink and son, Walter, of 1312 East Windsor road, are leaving tomorrow for Elgin, Ill., their former home. They plan to be gone for six weeks.

RESCUE MINER AFTER DAYS IN TUNNEL

Dramatic Reunion Of Family Follows Opening Of Trap By Relays Of Men

GRASS VALLEY, Cal., June 15.—"Bob" Hill's family was the happiest family in Grass Valley today. For "Bob" Hill, miner, was back again—rescued from the caved-in Baltic mine near here, after one of the most dramatic rescues in mining history. Hill was trapped in the tunnel of the mine, 800 feet from the entrance, last Thursday.

He was rescued early Sunday morning after 57 hours of frantic digging by scores of his comrades, working in relays of four and five men owing to the narrowness of the tunnel.

Hill, surrounded by his family—wife, daughter and two boys—looked none the worse today for his experience.

"I feel badly and almost ready to go back to work this morning," he said.

However, he will not return to work today. Mrs. Hill objected. "If you are so anxious to work," she said, "there is plenty to do right here at home."

LIGHT BALL OT FORECASTED ON BONDS

Despite Interest It Is Not Expected Forty Per Cent
Will Cast Votes

A vote of not more than forty percent of the total registration in tomorrow's municipal and school bond election was generally forecast today, despite interest that has been manifest in the $1,237,000 elementary school bonds and $150,000 memorial hall bonds.

Polls will be open at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning for the memorial hall bond election and will remain open until 7 p. m. Polls in the eight precincts, however, for the school bond election will not open until 8 o'clock, remaining open until 8 p. m. Separate ballots will be provided by separate groups of election officials for the municipal and school bond voters, but both ballots will be cast at the same polling place.

Most Will Wait
Because of that fact the vote before 8 o'clock in the municipal bond election will be practically nil, as most voters will wait until they can cast their ballots on both proposed issues after 8 o'clock. For the same reason most voters will have cast their ballots before 7 o'clock tomorrow night.

In the school bond election two issues will be placed on the ballot, one for $1,064,000 for the purchase of new sites on which it is planned to erect buildings at once, and for construction of school buildings and purchase of equipment. The second issue is for $173,000 for the purchase of sites on which it is not planned to build immediately.

Where to Vote

Precinct 1: Includes city precincts Nos. 28, 29, 30, 31, and 32; Glendale avenue school.

Precinct 2: Includes city precincts Nos. 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26; Pacific avenue school.

Precinct 3: Includes city precincts Nos. 19, 20, 21, 26, 27, 34 and 35; Colorado street school.

Precinct 4: Includes city precincts Nos. 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 16, 17 and 18; Doran street school.

Precinct 5: Includes city precincts Nos. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15; Columbus avenue school.

Precinct 6: Includes city precincts Nos. 2 and 3; residence, 460 West Palm drive.

Precinct 7: Includes city precincts Nos. 1, 33 and 37; Grand View school.

Precinct 8: Includes city precinct No. 5; garage, 2715 Hermosita drive.

Problem Of Housewife Is Met By Invention

One of the greatest problems of the American housewife is that of the proper refrigeration of food. As the freshness and purity of food has a very direct relation to health, inadequate refrigeration immediately becomes a subject for concern.

Government food experts, leading scientists and others who have made a study of refrigeration agree that milk and other perishables must be kept at a temperature of below 50 degrees to retain their purity. This requirement, although difficult to meet with ordinary refrigeration, is easily met by Frigidaire, according to J. C. Beldin, of the Beldin Sales Co., of this city.

Frigidaire immediately places your food refrigeration on a par with your electric lighting. Although requiring no ice, Frigidaire has provision for making ample supplies of convenient-sized ice cubes for table use. It operates automatically, keeps food compartment temperatures uniformly low, below 50 degrees, and, therefore, gives you at all times positive, adequate, sanitary and economical refrigeration. Milk can be kept pure, sweet and wholesome in Frigidaire for many days, according to Beldin.

Mammoth Parade Will Open Food Exposition

The Glendale Mercantile Exposition and Food Show, under the auspices of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, will be opened on the night of June 20 with a mammoth parade and electrical display. Merchants of Glendale are co-operating with the Legionnaires in the exposition and will display merchandise and food-stuffs. In addition to these displays there will be many modern utilities and household devices shown.

There will be presented each night of the exposition a high-class, talented program of entertainment, which will be changed nightly. The exposition will open June 20 and will run every night until June 27.

Cigar Distributor Will Motor Through East

Jot C. Wood, 1739 Del Valle avenue, started today on a six weeks' motor trip with Morris Sontag, wholesale cigar distributor of Los Angeles, for New York city. Mr. Wood represents the O'San and J. C. Winter Cigar companies on the Pacific coast, and will visit their factories at York, Pa., while away.

ATWATER CIVIC BODY TO OUTLINE PROGRAM

Officers of Improvement Association Will Meet Tomorrow Night to Discuss
Plans for Activities of Year

A comprehensive working plan for the year will be laid by executive officers and committee chairmen of the Atwater Improvement association when they meet tomorrow night at the office of Arthur M. Gilman, president.

The program outlined by the civic leaders will be submitted for ratification when the improvement body meets in general session a week from tonight.

Civic improvements of various sorts will be included in the schedule of events for the year. A large place will be left for a half dozen big improvements now under way or already ordered. These include completion of the Los Feliz road job, which calls for widening, paving and installation of sewers and lights; a new wing to the Atwater grammar school with many rooms as the present structure, in addition to an auditorium; construction of three large highway bridges over the Los Angeles river, provided for by funds from Los Angeles city bonds and from the county treasury; a proposed new branch library for the district, also to come from funds voted in a Los Angeles bond issue. Improved traffic conditions along Glendale boulevard, to be brought about mainly by the installation of a pedestrian tunnel at the Atwater avenue crossing.

Problems of street work, improvement of existing streets, cutting through of several new arterials, widening and linking of others will also be discussed and a definite plan of action worked out.

A program of assistance for Atwater boys through the Boy Scout movement will be undertaken. A closer contact with merchants of the district will be sought, and many other matters will come up at the meeting.

Vivid Portrayal Given In Recital By Student

The Emerson School of Self-Expression has presented a number of its professional students in recital, and Saturday night another program of classical nature was given by Mrs. Retta Rhodes in the school studio, 732 South Glendale avenue. Huge baskets of gladioli and a profusion of Shasta daisies lent color to the scene and palms and ferns were placed about the rooms. Mrs. Rhodes wore a white robe of classic design, which was in keeping with the occasion.

Her first group consisted of miscellaneous numbers. These gave Mrs. Rhodes an opportunity to display her versatility. The second part consisted of a cutting of Dickens' "Christmas Carol." She portrayed Ebenezer Scrooge and she gave a vivid picture of the Christmas spirit when Robert Rhodes, 11-year-old juvenile member of the school, will give an entire program. It will consist of a group, closing with a play, in which his mother, Mrs. Retta Rhodes, takes a part. Miss Ruth Goldsborough will play a group of piano solos. Preceding this program a recital will be given by the students of the school, beginning promptly at 7:15 o'clock.

Not often does one find mother and son appearing in joint recital, but this will take place Monday evening at the Emerson School of Self-Expression when Robert Rhodes, 11-year-old juvenile member of the school, will give an entire program. It will consist of a group, closing with a play, in which his mother, Mrs. Retta Rhodes, takes a part. Miss Ruth Goldsborough will play a group of piano solos. Preceding this program a recital will be given by the students of the school, beginning promptly at 7:15 o'clock.

Aero League Selects Glendale Headquarters

plan to establish three great trunk line highways through California, Oregon and Washington as a part of the national defense, was explained by Scott.

J. C. Riley, formerly of New York city, and now interested in commercial aviation in Southern California, declared investors are ready to put their money into aeronautical projects, proving a greater confidence in the industry than in former years. Lieut. C. P. Kane announced that Col. Frank Lahm, chief of aeronautics in the Ninth corps area, would be present at the next meeting of the league.

Aviation to Pay
Thomas B. Slate, inventor, who proposes to build a 400-foot dirigible in Glendale, said that for the first time in history, aviation is promising to pay a just return on the effort and skill put into it.

A report on the recent air meet at Bell where a new airport was established after the Glendale airfield, was given by Secretary-Manager Jennings of the Bell Chamber of Commerce. A school of aviation where competent persons will be taught to fly, is the next aim of the Bell chamber.

The league voted to hold its next meeting at San Diego, Saturday, August 1. Army and navy officials will take part in the session.

Bulgaria's crops are so bounteous that good times there are expected.

VALLEY SEES PROSPERITY IN COTTON

Million Acres Of Potential Production Ground Will Insure Big Yield

By GIL A. COWAN

For Southland News Service.
FRESNO, June 15.—The San Joaquin valley faces an invasion! Cotton, king of the Imperial, Coachella and Palo Verde valleys, is moving north and soon will center here with a million acres potential to increasing the world supply.

Within a year this city will be the center of 100,000 acres of cotton. A. M. Shenk, former Calceico grower and now operating on a large scale at Los Banos, informed the Fresno Realty board at its annual banquet Saturday night. There is a large acreage planted in Kern and Tulare counties also, Secretary of Commerce Hoover having been among the first to profit by the following facts:

1. Average production of one bale per acre and in some cases two and one half bales, due to ideal climate and lack of pests.

2. Premium of $20 per bale being paid over other California cotton crops because of quality.

3. Opportunity for diversification with fruit, dairying and grain in the San Joaquin valley, a combination which insures the rancher.

Expects Big Growth

Within the next few years Fresno will be the center of 1,364,000 acres of irrigated lands, all within an hour's ride of the city. John C. Forkner, toastmaster, pointed out of the real estate men. Stockton, Sacramento, Bakersfield and Modesto are other centers of similar irrigated areas of California.

The striking fact that California's market basket, an inland empire greater than that of any other state, has never suffered from under production, but only from adverse economic conditions following the war and lack of marketing facilities—not a lack of a market—gives promise to future prosperity which will build cities of six figures in population and bring to the entire state assured prosperity.

Plan Big Time

Fresno, by the way, is making big preparations for the California Real Estate association convention next October. Ned M. Hartman, newly installed president of the Fresno board; J. T. Crowe, president of the San Joaquin Valley Real Estate association, and D. Richard Ainslie, president of the state association, also a Fresnoan, are throwing the support of their organizations behind the meeting to make it the greatest gathering of realtors in state history.

Milk Theft Charges Dismissed By Court

Charge of theft, placed against Lawrence Bassett, 2767 Riverside drive, Los Angeles, after he was alleged by police to have taken a quart of milk from a doorstep at 111 East Harvard street, has been dismissed by Police Judge F. H. Lowe, because of insufficient evidence. Bassett denied that he had maintained a milk route by picking up bottles of milk left by other dairies, as charged.

Geneva Council Ends Session Of League

GENEVA, June 15.—The council of the League of Nations has closed its thirty-fourth session.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, June 15.—A high school to cost $500,000 will be erected in Eagle Rock by the Los Angeles school board on a five-acre site south of Yosemite drive and east of the new play ground site. If more land is required the board will begin condemnation suits against owners of surrounding property.

Mrs. J. C. Reiter, retiring president of the Eagle Rock Parent-Teacher association was presented with a radio set by members of that organization in recognition of her work at a garden party held at the home of Mrs. A. G. Reilly, 1750 Colorado street. Mrs. Winifred Young is the new president of the local club.

Eagle Rock Kiwanians will be hosts on Monday evening, June 22, to members of the Kiwanis clubs from Southern California when more than 200 visitors are expected to attend the regular monthly zone meeting. A dinner will be served in the Masonic dining rooms.

Mrs. A. F. Reiter, secretary of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, will represent the organization at a meeting of the California Development association to be held in Los Angeles this week.

Donald Cameron, 5233 Windermer, junior at the University of Southern California, was one of nineteen elected Trojan Knights at the Delta Mu Phi house. Initiation was followed by a banquet. Everett Gilbert Forrest, famous miniature and portrait painter, died at his home, 5172 Ellenwood drive, after a long period of illness.
